New Storm Hits Southwest With 10-Inch Blanket

By United Press International

Winter launched a new attack Friday night, hurling a snow storm across the southwest in the wake of an eastern near-blizzard and a Dixie freeze.

Snow, Sleet Bring Return Of Weather

Crossett Reports Half-Inch Fall; Farmerville Hit

Snow had pushed as far south as Bastrop last night, with Crossett, Ark., reporting about one-half inch by 10:30 p.m. and Farmerville reporting a heavy fall of sleet beginning about 7:30 p.m.

Light freezing rain began peeping the Monroe area around 10 p.m. last night, as the four-day long cold wave threatened to extend its life throughout the weekend with freezing rain or snow today and Sunday.

A brief respite Friday, as the sun peeked hesitantly between the clouds, was already ending by night with temperatures dropping and chilling breezes ushering in another freeze.

HOMES BURN

Friday's weather left in its wake at least two fire-damaged homes, and one man was injured in one of the blazes.

Otis Walsworth was hospitalized with burns near Jonesboro while attempting to gather clothes from a closet in his flaming three-bedroom brick home.

He was hospitalized with burned hands after his home eight miles northeast of Jonesboro was reduced to rubble from flames that started from a heater.

Walsworth said the fire was caused by a leaking gaspipe when he tried to light the heater.

His wife, his daughter, Mrs. Jackie Norred and her six-month old child managed to escape the house safely.

Adcock's Views Challenged By Senator Firmin

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Sen. Lee C. Firmin of Franklin Friday challenged remarks attributed to Sen. Jamar W. Adcock of Monroe criticizing the legislature for doing nothing.

Adcock was quoted as telling the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce he would refuse to attend any more special sessions unless they did something constructive. He also was quoted as saying he had been paid $2,000 in the recent special sessions and would not "take another penny until the May fiscal legislature."

Firmin said in a statement, "I feel that such allegations reflect on the sincerity of senators and representatives from throughout our great state of Louisiana."

Firmin also said he was puzzled by Adcock's remarks about $2,000, since records show lawmakers have been paid $3,400 for a total of 48 days in the first three special sessions.

Each lawmaker, in addition to his $50 per diem, also receives travel allowance and Adcock lives a long way from Baton Rouge.

Flames Raging At Texas Plant

HALLSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A raging fire spread by a heavy explosion enveloped the dehydration plant of the Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Co. seven miles north of this small East Texas town Friday. There were no injuries.

Flames that shot 100 feet into the sky threatened two 10,000-gallon storage tanks only 40 feet from the burning building.

Firemen shut off several gas lines leading into the plant but were unable to reach others.

Chemical fire fighting equipment was summoned from Louisiana to fight the fire.

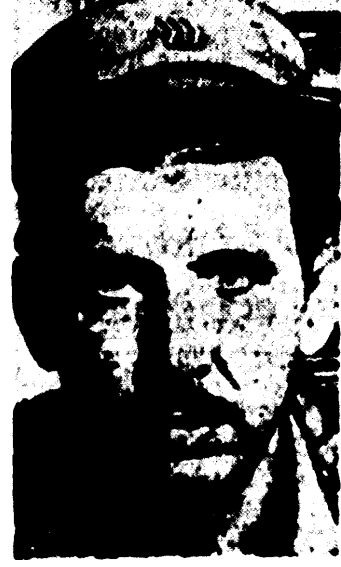

R. A. Brown of Longview and Truett Ehard, the only two men in the plant at the time, said they heard an explosion about 12:40 p.m. and flames immediately engulfed the plant. They ran to safety.

U. S. Arrests Cuba 'Butcher'

NEW YORK (AP) — An American-born soldier of fortune, known as "The Butcher" for his role as one-time executioner of war criminals under the regime of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, was under arrest here Friday as an alien.

HERMAN F. MARKS

The Milwaukee-born adventurer, Herman Frederick Marks, 30, is charged with illegally entering the United States last July 22 without a proper visa. He faces deportation to either Mexico or Cuba.

Military sources in Havana said Marks may face a firing squad like those he once commanded for Castro if he is returned to Cuba.

DEFECTS, FLEES

The Cuban army listed him as a deserter after he defected and fled in a stolen fishing boat.

Marks was taken into custody here two days ago. His arrest, however, was not announced until late Friday in Washington by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"I congratulate the Immigration Service on the apprehension of Herman Marks," the attorney general said. "I have consulted

MAY GET DEATH

Cuba Sets Trial For 6 Americans

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's government announced Friday night that six imprisoned Americans will be tried Saturday for crimes punishable by death.

The Americans are charged with attempting to join rebel forces in Cuba.

'CHANCES SLIM'

One of them, Donald J. Green, of Gastonia, N.C., told a North Carolina radio station by telephone that "They're asking the death penalty for all six of us."

"We don't have a chance," Green said the trial would begin at 11 a.m. in Havana.

The six men are accused of sailing to Cuba to join rebel forces. They sailed into Havana harbor earlier this month and were promptly arrested. They claimed they were on their way to South America but were forced into port because of bad weather.

Green told the radio station "they think I'm calling the Swiss Embassy. They don't think I'm talking to the states. If we get out of you'll know what happened."

Green said he was making the call from an office in the La Cabana prison fortress in answer to a cable sent by the station asking him to telephone Winston-Salem.

The Cuban Justice ministry notified the Swiss Embassy of the trial. The embassy represents U. S. interests here since the break in diplomatic relations.

Ambassador Gaston Jaccard visited the group Thursday and said they "looked well-cared for" but undoubtedly were tense over the forthcoming trial.

GAO Charges Flight Pay To Waste Millions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional auditors said Friday the Air Force will waste $183 million this year unnecessarily keeping officers in the wild blue yonder.

The General Accounting Office (GAO) said that unless the regulations are changed nearly 27,000 officers will receive flight pay "who are either excess to stated Air Force requirements" or are doing jobs which don't require flying skills.

The GAO, charged by Congress to keep an eye on government spending, said the Air Force will spend $112 million for maintenance and operating costs and $71 million for flight pay in keeping these officers on flying status during the year ending June 30.

In a report to Chairman F. Edward Hebert of the armed services investigating subcommittee, the GAO said the $183 million expense is "caused by the Air Force policy of retaining all officers in flying status who continued to have ability, motivation, and physical qualification to pursue this career."

The Air Force said later that it had suspended flight status of 728 officers last Nov. 4, in accordance with a congressional limitation limiting fliers to not more than 70,000. Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, was among 45 officers excused from flying last May 12 under a law authorizing continued flight pay for those with 20 years of flight status.

Boy Breaks Boycott At N.O. School

Tension Mounts As White Youth Enters Classes

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A third-grade white boy broke the total segregation boycott of McDonogh No. 19 school Friday, setting the stage for new tension in this city's 73-day school crisis.

Clusters of women demonstrators huddled across the street and yelled "Traitor" when nine-year-old Gregory Thompson left the school accompanied by a federal marshal.

MOTHERS UNHAPPY

This was the first white pupil the three-story building in eastern New Orleans has had. Only three Negro girls have attended McDonogh classes.

Almost in tears, one of the huddled group of mothers said: "All we worked for, and now someone has to send their children back to school here."

A second mother voiced the conflict that has torn New Orleans since four Negro girls entered previously all-white schools for the first time Nov. 14.

"My little boy is unhappy and wants to go back to McDonogh," she said in a low voice.

She looked around and added: "And, I'd almost put him back if I wasn't scared of some of these other women."

Mary Sand, head of Save Our Schools, an organization aimed at keeping New Orleans schools operating even if they are integrated, hailed the crack in the 100 per cent McDonogh No. 19 boycott. She obviously expected other McDonogh parents to follow the example of the father of the one boycott breaker.

Dr. James F. Redmond, superintendent of New Orleans schools, announced the entry of the white boy without identifying him but said the father was "tired of seeing his boy go over the same work he did last year."

The boy, said Redmond, has been attending classes in St. Bernard Parish schools since November. Like most of the other white McDonogh students, the school had about 500 white pupils before integration.

The father told school officials another son, now ill, would re-enter McDonogh Monday.

Father Of Boy Ending Boycott Fired From Job

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — John H. Thompson, 37, a drug store employee, was fired Friday a few hours after his son broke the two-month-old white boycott of an integrated New Orleans public school.

J. C. Adams, manager of the Walgreen drug store chain, said "we let him go yesterday" and added that he knew "nothing about his child going" to the McDonogh No. 19 school.

Adams said Thompson received his dismissal notice when he reported Friday to start his 3 p.m. to midnight shift. When asked the reason for the firing, Adams replied: "He didn't cut the mustard."

Adams said Thompson would seek employment Saturday at another unit of the chain.

Thompson, 33-year-old father of six children, in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press, said earlier he would not submit to pressure. If necessary, he said, he would defend his home.

He sat on an old couch in his sparsely furnished living room. Shaded were drawn.

"If they come here, they'll have to mess with me," he said. "If they do come here, I'm going to kill someone."

Two Thugs Get Payroll Bag, Huge Surprise

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two bandits who thought they had it in the bag dropped the bag they stole and fled Friday when the bag turned on them.

It all started near Manhattan's mid-town garment center when two thugs closed in on payroll messenger Daniel Waters.

One man grabbed his pistol while the other snatched his payroll bag. Waters offered no resistance and watched patiently while the two ran down the street with the bag, which contained $2,500, the payroll of a nearby firm.

Suddenly the bag went bang! Then another bang! Then yellow smoke began to pour from the bag. The terrified thief dropped it and, with his companion, fled.

The messenger, who recovered the bag and calmly made the delivery, explained to police that his employers Tracelarm, Inc. have been using the specially wired bags for some time now. A string attached to the messenger's finger sets off an explosive and smoke if the bag is taken by force.

Jailed Man Blames Troubles On Movie

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — A movie was Dan Wright's downfall. It taught him how to make money in his own garage.

Wright, a 31-year-old Clermont, Ind., milkman, is out of the money-making business now. He is a resident of Marion County Jail, held in lieu of $10,000 on charges of printing 1,500 homemade $20 bills on his offset printing press.

It never would have happened, Wright said, if his wife hadn't been sick back in 1959 and if he hadn't gone to a movie to take his mind off his troubles.

The movie was "Mrs. 800." It told the story, based on fact, of a New York junkman who printed his own $1 bills whenever he was short of cash. "Mrs. 800" was finally caught, but he got away with his private mint for a long time.

"Movies like that which go into so much detail shouldn't be shown," Wright said indignantly.

Freed Airmen Receive Warm U.S. Welcome

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The two U. S. airmen imprisoned for seven months by the Russians came home Friday to a personal welcome from President Kennedy and widely embraced.

Shortly after their return, and barely 48 hours after they were released from a stern Soviet prison, the happy fliers were standing before a cheery White House fireplace having coffee with the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

"I don't think either one of us has anything to complain about one bit," said one of the men, Capt. John R. McKone, 28.

His companion, Capt. Freeman Bruce Olmstead, 25, was in obvious agreement. He said he was feeling fine and arranged with McKone to proceed almost immediately to their Kansas home, foregoing a hospital checkup in Washington.

Arriving at nearby Andrews Air Force Base shortly before noon, the men almost sprang out of an Air Force Constellation that carried them on the last lap of their trip from Newfoundland.

They saluted the President, quickly expressed their thanks to him, and then fell into the arms of their wives. They kissed and kissed. And then they kissed again.

It was a joyous end to the ordeal of the two fliers whose unarmed RB47 reconnaissance plane was shot down by Soviet fighters over the Barents Sea last July 1.

After resting for a few hours at special quarters on the airbase, the men, their wives and Olmstead's parents and brother drove to the White House for coffee and sandwiches with the new first family. The President walked to greet the party.

Santa Maria May Sail To Brazil Port

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The U. S. Navy said Friday night the rebel Portuguese passenger ship Santa Maria has "drastically changed course apparently heading for Belem, Brazil."

Announcement of the change in course followed a U. S. promise of safe conduct for the rebel shipper to discharge his 583 captive passengers at port.

GIVEN PLEDGE

The Navy told the rebel, Capt. Henrique Galvao, it would take no action against the ship if he would carry out his announced willingness to release the passengers, including 42 Americans, he holds as virtual hostages.

The Navy said the ship's latest known position was 1 degree, 30 minutes north latitude and 34 degrees, 30 minutes west longitude.

This would put the Santa Maria about 400 miles from the nearest point of the Brazilian coast and about double that distance from Belem.

The Santa Maria's previous position was about 750 miles from Brazil's bulging northeastern coast line.

Adm. Robert L. Dennison, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, made the offer of safe conduct in a new exchange of messages with the Portuguese insurgent leader.

Dennison said because of responsibility for the protection of lives and property of the Americans aboard the Santa Maria and because of humanitarian concern for all the passengers he would "take no action to interfere with his — Galvao's — entering and

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's government announced Friday night that six imprisoned Americans will be tried Saturday for crimes punishable by death.

The Americans are charged with attempting to join rebel forces in Cuba.

They claimed they were on their way to South America but were forced into port because of bad weather.

Green told the radio station "they think I'm calling the Swiss Embassy. They don't think I'm talking to the states. If we get out off you'll know what happened."

Green said he was making the call from an office in the La Cabaña prison fortress in answer to a cable sent by the station asking him to telephone Winston-Salem. ## Paul Harvey Raps Notion Of Equality

"If Uncle Sam is ever disgraced in the eyes of this world, it will be because he was lured astray by a low-necked, short-skirted, rose-scented, diamond-necked hussy named Something For Nothing," warned national commentator Paul Harvey Friday night.

Harvey spoke to 400-500 persons at Neville auditorium, to aid the Monroe Area Vocational Training and Evaluation Center, due to open Feb. 1 at Selman Field.

"All Men Are Not Created Equal," was the ABC broadcaster's speech title. He got a standing ovation when he was introduced, and again one hour later as he walked off the stage.

"This country was never carved out of any wilderness. It was hammered, dug, plowed and clawed by the bare hands of men who didn't ask for something for nothing.

"If we demand more and more for nothing, the 'have-not' nations of this world will surpass us and put our grandchildren in chains," Harvey said.

He blasted the idea of the "common" and "average."

"Don't you ever let anyone sell you on the idea of being average. That means you are the best of the louisiest or the louisiest of the best," drew a hearty laugh.

"The Americans defy the 'common' and the Russians reward the 'uncommon.' Mr. Lincoln's Gettysburg address (stating all men are created equal) was written before the IQ test was given. IQ's range from 0 to 200. Lincoln himself was a splendid example of the falsity of his statement 'all men are created equal.'"

Jailed Man Blames Troubles On Movie

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — A movie was Dan Wright's downfall. It taught him how to make money in his own garage.

Wright, a 31-year-old Clermont, Ind., milkman, is out of the money-making business now. He is a resident of Marion County Jail, held in lieu of $10,000 on charges of printing 1,500 homemade $20 bills on his offset printing press.

It never would have happened, Wright said, if his wife hadn't been sick back in 1959 and if he hadn't gone to a movie to take his mind off his troubles.

The movie was "Mrs. 880." It told the story, based on fact, of a New York junkman who printed his own $1 bills whenever he was short of cash. "Mrs. 880" was finally caught, but he got away with his private mint for a long time.

"Movies like that which go into so much detail shouldn't be shown," Wright said indignantly

Friday. "I wouldn't have done it if I hadn't got the idea from the movie and didn't need the cash so bad."

Wright, the father of three children, had been in financial trouble since 1954. All his money had gone to pay for operations to save his wife from cancer. He owed $7,000.

So Wright set out to make money on the do it yourself plan. "After I got the equipment together it seemed like months before I finally got a $20 bill that looked anything near like a real one."

Wright said he cashed $7,000 worth of home made money in eight states but only "whenever I was desperate for cash."

Two nights before Secret Service agents caught up with him Wednesday, he burned a stack of bills. But he didn't have time to destroy all the evidence.

Santa Maria May Sail To Brazil Port

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The U. S. Navy said Friday night the rebel Portuguese passenger ship Santa Maria has "drastically changed course apparently heading for Belem, Brazil."

Announcement of the change in course followed a U.S. promise of safe conduct for the rebel skipper to discharge his 583 captive passengers at port.

GIVEN PLEDGE

The Navy told the rebel, Capt. Henrique Galvao, it would take no action against the ship if he would carry out his announced willingness to release the passengers, including 42 Americans, he holds as virtual hostages.

The Navy said the ship's latest known position was 1 degree, 50 minutes north latitude and 34 degrees, 50 minutes west longitude. This would put the Santa Maria about 400 miles from the nearest point of the Brazilian coast and about double that distance from Belem.

The Santa Maria's previous position was about 750 miles from Brazil's bulging northeastern coast line.

Adm. Robert L. Dennison, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, made the offer of safe conduct in a new exchange of messages with the Portuguese insurgent leader.

Dennison said because of responsibility for the protection of lives and property of the Americans aboard the Santa Maria and because of humanitarian concern for all the passengers he would "take no action to interfere with his — Galvao's — entering and

Freed Airmen Receive Warm U.S. Welcome

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The two U. S. airmen imprisoned for seven months by the Russians came home Friday to a personal welcome from President Kennedy and wifely embraces that left them smeared with lipstick.

Shortly after their return, and barely 48 hours after they were released from a stern Soviet prison, the happy fliers were standing before a cheery White House fireplace having coffee with the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

"I don't think either one of us has anything to complain about one bit," said one of the men, Capt. John R. McKone, 23.

His companion, Capt. Freeman Bruce Olmstead, 25, was in obvious agreement. He said he was feeling fine and arranged with McKone to proceed almost immediately to their Kansas home, foregoing a hospital checkup in Washington.

Arriving at nearby Andrews Air Force Base shortly before noon, the men almost sprinted out of an Air Force Constellation that carried them on the last lap of their trip from Newfoundland.

They saluted the President, quickly expressed their thanks to him, and then fell into the arms of their wives. They kissed and kissed. And then they kissed again.

It was a joyous end to the ordeal of the two fliers whose unarmed RB47 reconnaissance plane was shot down by Soviet fighters over the Barents Sea last July 1. After resting for a few hours at special quarters on the airbase, the men, their wives and Olmstead's parents and brother drove to the White House for coffee and sandwiches with the new first family. The President walked down the White House steps to greet the party.

with the commissioner of immigration and all necessary deportation proceedings will be expedited.

Marks is being held in the federal house of detention here pending a hearing next Monday.

Immigration officials said Marks, a former merchant seaman, has a record of more than 30 arrests. The charges included drunkenness, rape, vagrancy, auto theft, assault and draft dodging, they said.

He made three jail breaks from a Wisconsin reform school, an Ohio prison and a California farm, officials said, and was sentenced to prison for 3½ years for raping a 17-year-old girl.

He lost his American citizenship by joining Castro's rebel forces a year before the Cuban leader overthrew the dictatorship of former Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

Marks, who also has been known to use the name Fred Keller, subsequently rose to the rank of captain in Castro's rebel army and Dennison offered to confer further with Galvao to set up the effect details.

Galvao said he was ready to meet with U.S. authorities aboard the ship or at a landing port.

Galvao also said he would accept a U.S. Navy escort to protect him from Portuguese warships steaming to head him off from his earlier announced destination of Angola in Portuguese West Africa. There was no announcement by the United States of such an offer, however.

A converted long-range Constellation hurricane hunter had to turn back to Brazil after a three-hour hunt in the area above the ship's previous reported position about 600 miles northeast of Belem, Brazil. became security officer at La Cabaña fortress in Havana.

In this role, he supervised the multiple executions carried out by Castro after he seized control of the Cuban capital from Batista in January 1959.

American officials said Marks became known as "The Butcher" after reportedly participating in the execution of more than 300 Cuban opponents of the Castro regime.

U. S. Immigration officials were unable to explain why Marks left Cuba and made his way to Mexico. But they did say that he managed to get back into the United States last July at El Paso, Tex., by falsely claiming American citizenship.

The story of Marks' defection came from Havana. Military sources there said Marks defected from Castro because of a controversy over his alleged mistreatment of prisoners in Havana jails. The United States faces problems, however, in deporting Marks.

Because he once served under Castro, he could be deported to Cuba. But Cuba would have to agree to his return there.

Because he made his way into the United States from Mexico, Marks could be deported there. Again, Mexico would have to agree.

Negro Indicted In Slaying Case

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — A Forrest County grand jury Friday indicted C. W. Gholar, 34, for murder in connection with the slaying of his three sons.

Police said Gholar, a Negro service station attendant, admitted shooting and beating his wife and four children while under "a spell."

Gholar later pleaded guilty, but Dist. Atty. James Finch insisted on a jury trial to fix the penalty.

A jury can set the penalty at death.

The jury will be convened in March.

Escapee Gets Six Months For Damages

A West Monroe man who escaped from the Monroe jail drew a six - months term for damaging the jail, and a Pennsylvania man was sentenced to the penitentiary on a worthless check charge in Fourth District Court Friday.

are built for leadership and some are not... and the sooner we recognize leaders, the better it will be," said the tall, ex-Oklahoma.

"I pledge allegiance..." "Just one difference distinguishes our flag from every other flag in the world — the stars," he continued.

The flag stands for 50 individuals and separate states. The date that ceases to be true, our flag will be a lie.

"The stars in that flag represent a different kind of freedom — political choice, the rights of each state," to make its own laws, he stressed.

"I wonder if many Americans, in their concern for their brothers, have not blurred the meaning of those stars," he queried.

Harvey touched on skin color. "There is no such thing as equality," Dr. Albert Schweitzer said, "I am the African man's brother — his older brother."

"Neither government nor society can enforce equality of opportunity," he commented.

A hard - hitting descendant of Harvey pointed out that "we recognize years of breeding to bring out the best," in cows and even pet dogs.

"Because generations of American Negroes have produced the likes of Ralph Bunche," we think that they all can do the same. They can't," he stated.

"The strength of democracy lies not in equality but in the pursuit of truth by those who are unequal."

"Americans have substituted the image of the mother hen for the American eagle."

LAST RESORT
Governments never should be a first aid but last resort.

Harvey said that by taking incentive away from youngsters who don't have to get out and scratch for anything, the teenagers do something else for thrills — rape a little girl, take

Three were charged with driving without an operator's license: Merl Cawthorn, 47, 312 Sixth St., Richard Handsome, 26, Bell, Calif., each fined $25 and costs or 10 days, and Betty Jane Patterson Wilcox, 23, 404½ Cotton St., West Monroe, warrant ordered issued.

Mrs. Carolyn P. Morgan, 19, 1408 Nat St., West Monroe, drew a $25 fine plus costs on a charge of driving with improper brakes. Johnny Dunn, 22, and Gun Ganaway Jr. each received a one-year suspended jail term and were placed on probation on criminal neglect of family charges.

Probation was revoked for Jack Dean.

narcotics, break into a store. "Storms are a part of the necessary normal climate of life," he said, but the United States' ratio of seven per cent of the world's population and 50 per cent of its good things, "invite laziness and sloth."

"If we can revive first in ourselves and in our youth the basic American creed, faith," in God, in ourselves, he said American may not follow the path of all the other great nations which reached their zenith in about 130 years and then "rotted away from moral and social decay."

"Politicians in an effort to get votes have promised us security for independence... the paycheck is something the world owes us. Today we are regulated in business, regimented by government."

"It may be as the dictators say: we're not competent to govern ourselves. In the beginning, Americans under God did."

Cardinal weakness in America — linking our blessings for granted, he warned.

"Since World War II, communism has made a million new disciples each year. Times have not changed, we have. We win fewer converts today with all our wealth than our great granddies did with only a light in the window... After 1917, Democracy suddenly began to take herself for granted and found herself neglected."

Harvey stressed that Nikita Khrushchev has written a book available to anyone, "For Victory Competition with Capitalism," which gives complete details of how the Reds will try to win the world via economic cold war.

BOX SCORE
"The United States box score: we're leading 29-4... 29 earth satellites and two solar satellites placed in orbit." Sixteen of ours are still up there, compared to two of the Soviets, nine of ours are still broadcasting, compared to no Red units, he continued.

"Russia is 29 years behind us in steel, 16 years in electricity, 42 in coal, 36 in butter, 65 years in wool fabrics... a wool suit costs a Russian $204.00. Their farming is equal to that of the United States just after the Civil War."

"Khrushchev counts on one other factor," said Harvey, who then revealed what FBI agents intercepted in February 1959, the head Red's instructions to communists in the U.S. to "infiltrate, undermine and degrade the U.S. economic system."

Harvey forecast that we now can expect the commies here to use psychological sabotage, to stir up labor trouble, and restlessness of American labor, demand for four - day work weeks, shorter hours, more pay, to damage the value of the U.S. dollar.

"He's (Khrushchev) on the defensive now. We've got it made unless we do some dumb fool thing like going to sleep: demanding longer coffee breaks, earlier retirement, shorter work weeks."

"This is the testing time, this is the shake-down cruise."

Harvey arrived in Monroe by plane Thursday night, made three national radio broadcasts over KMLB, was guest of honor at a luncheon where both Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard and West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris presented him with the keys to the cities, and appeared on a local television broadcast.

He playfully took a swipe at TV during a lighter part of his speech, when he mentioned things that might impress Will Rogers, if the famed humorist were to come back.

"Old Will was spared television. Now, Governor, if I've given you the impression I don't like television" — here Harvey paused to let the audience absorb his remark to TV station owner James A. Noe, then continued with the brief quip, "I don't." The audience roared with laughter.

Junior High Boy Admits Slaying Girl

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — A 14-year-old junior high school student admitted the bludgeoning slaying of a pretty classmate Friday, "because she was teasing me and laughing at me."

The boy, Danny Sineros, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Sineros, of Albuquerque, was charged with murder under the juvenile code.

The victim was Janice Margerite McKerrrow, 14, an honor student at the same school. Her body was found Thursday night with her skull crushed in a small arroyo only about two blocks from her home.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan H. McKerrrow. Juvenile Court Judge Edwin Swope said the probation officer would investigate the case and a hearing would probably be held in a week or two. He said he presumed psychiatric tests would be made on young Sineros.

The hearing will determine whether the boy will be tried for the crime as a juvenile or as an adult in District Court.

Police said the slaying occurred several hours before the body of the girl was found at 7:50 p.m. She had been beaten repeatedly about the head with a cinder block. The block was found lying on her face.

Professor, Student Die In Home Fire

BATON ROUGE AP) — A well known oil research scientist at Louisiana State University and a pretty girl student from Finland died in flames Friday after he tried to rescue her.

Witnesses said Prof. Raymond J. Strawinski, 44, after his wife and daughter escaped, dashed back into the blazing home searching for the 17-year-old house guest. The roof collapsed.

Marianna Krogerus, the girl victim, a foreign exchange student from Helsinki, had been living in the Strawinski home since last August.

Two days ago, in a school talk, she said "these last six months have been the most wonderful of my life."

Both the young visitor and the professor's daughter, Marcia, 17, were seniors at Baton Rouge High School.

Sheriff Seizes Cuban Airliner

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — A Cubana Airlines Constellation that made an emergency landing here last week was attached by the sheriff Friday to satisfy a lien filed by a man who claimed his property was seized in Cuba.

A warrant was issued directing Mecklenburg County Sheriff J. Clyde Hunter to confiscate the four-engine aircraft which landed here last Saturday on a flight from Havana to Montreal, Canada.

The Mecklenburg County Superior Court issued the attachment warrant to satisfy a claim by Jeffrey Shapiro. Shapiro said property he owned in Cuba had been seized by the regime of Fidel Castro.

Shapiro asked for 30 days in which to formally file his complaint.

How Dr. Nason Helped a Boy's Future

The boy was overweight and unpleasant. He lacked confidence; he was failing in school. Nobody liked him except his mother.

"If he could just learn to make better grades," she said, "maybe that would help."

She had failed to help him improve those grades. So had the school. The boy was failing. Then someone told the mother about a man who might perform the miracle.

As he had so many times before, Dr. Leslie J. Nason, educator and specialist in study habits, took the case.

By teaching the boy how to study he performed the miracle of lifting him from failure to scholastic success—as well as success with other children.

"He wasn't stupid," Dr. Nason notes. "He just never had been taught how to learn."

In simple, nontechnical language, Dr. Nason now reveals some effective, neglected techniques of the art of learning. Don't miss the articles on "You CAN Get Better Grades," which Dr. Nason has written with Harry Karna. The series starts in this paper Monday.

Judge Jesse Heard sentenced Lewis Bridges Jr., 22, 511 Wood St., West Monroe, to six months in the Ouachita Parish jail from the date of his arrest. He was charged with simple criminal damage to property.

Bridges escaped from the city jail on Dec. 8.

George Harold Einsla, 62, alias C. H. Burkhardt, Reading, Pa., was sentenced to one year in the Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola on a charge of issuing a worthless check for $35.50. A forgery charge was dismissed.

An attorney was appointed for Samuel Lee Starks, 28, Negro, 804 Ouachita Ave., charged with aggravated rape of a two-year-old Negro girl during the first week of January.

Prentiss Edward Gibson, 26, Route 1, Crossett, Ark., withdrew a guilty plea and entered an innocent plea to two forgery charges. His trial was set for May 3.

An attorney was appointed to defend Willie Bishop, 19, Millhaven Road, Route 3, charged with receiving stolen tires valued at $45. His trial will be Feb. 20.

James Thomas, 20, Negro, Houston, Tex., pled guilty to simple burglary of Smith's Grocery. He was remanded for pre-sentence investigation.

Charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages were listed against:

Fred Dixon, 44, Negro, Route 1, Sterling, fined $300 and costs or 60 days.

William Jackson, 33, Negro, Ruston, fined $300 and costs or 60 days.

Joe R. Strickland, 64, 103 Gilbert St., West Monroe, also charged with violation of a restricted driver's license and resisting an officer, called on bond when he failed to appear in court.

A. M. Bingham, 21, Route 1, Monroe, changed plea to guilty, fined $300 and costs or 60 days.

Bovey S. Kilcrease, 25, Route 2, Farmerville, trial continued until March 10.

Trial date for J. L. Horton, 37, 405 S. Seventh St., charged with theft of tools valued at $19 and driving without a chauffeur's license was continued to March 24.

Mrs. Mable I. Williams, 52, 610½ Benton Ave., drew a $25 fine plus costs on a charge of permitting an unlicensed minor to operate a vehicle. The fine was suspended on payment of court costs.

Trial was continued without date for Lee S. Koehler, 49, 1009 N. Fourth St., charged with issuing a worthless $10.50 check.

Five were charged with reckless driving:

William H. Banks, 33, 105 Arant Rd., West Monroe, called on bond.

Clarence Davis, 47, Negro, 803 Mercer St., fined $50 and costs or 15 days. He also was fined $100 and costs or 30 days on a hit and run driving charge.

Thomas J. Sheppard, 45, Route 1, Calhoun, trial set for March 3.

Harold L. Zeigler, 19, Route 1, Eros, fined $25 and costs or 10 days.

James R. Brown, 19, Route 2, Tallulah, fined $25 and costs or 10 days, plus a $50 fine and costs or 15 days on a speeding charge.

Two men were charged with driving with improper lights: Virgil Birden Jr., 23, Negro, Sterling, trial set for March 31, and Walter E. Hendricks, 32, Negro, Farmerville, also charged with driving without a chauffeur's license, warrant issued.

On charges of driving without a chauffeur's license, Wayne Roy Burditt, 21, 213 Peach St., Ivan Richard Green, 41, 319 Burnly-pines Rd., Shreveport each were fined $25 and costs or 10 days and a warrant was ordered issued for R. C. Williams, 334, Negro, 132 Copeland St., West Monroe.

Three were charged with driving without an operator's license: Merl Cawthorn, 47, 212 Sixth St., Richard Handson, 26, Bell, Calif., each fined $25 and costs or 10 days, and Betty Jane Patterson Wilcox, 23, 409½ Cotton St., West Monroe, warrant ordered issued.

Mrs. Carolyn P. Morgan, 19, 1409 Nat St., West Monroe, drew a $25 fine plus costs on a charge of driving with improper brakes.

Johnny Dunn, 32, and Gun Ganaway Jr. each received a one-year suspended jail term and were placed on probation on criminal neglect of family charges.

Probation was revoked for Jack Dean.

are built for leadership and some are not... and the sooner we recognize leaders, the better it will be," said the tall, ex-Oklahoma.

"I pledge allegiance..." "Just one difference distinguishes our flag from every other flag in the world — the stars," he continued.

The flag stands for 50 individuals and separate states. The date that ceases to be true, our flag will be a lie.

"The stars in that flag represent a different kind of freedom — political choice, the rights of each state," to make its own laws, he stressed.

"I wonder if many Americans, in their concern for their brothers, have not blurred the meaning of those stars," he queried.

Harvey touched on skin color. "There is no such thing as equality," Dr. Albert Schweitzer said. "I am the African man's brother — his older brother."

"Neither government nor society can enforce equality of opportunity," he commented.

A hard-hitting descendant of Harvey pointed out that "we recognize years of breeding to bring out the best," in cows and even pet dogs.

"Because generations of American Negroes have produced the likes of Ralph Bunch," we think that they all can do the same. They can't, he stated.

"The strength of democracy lies not in equality but in the... pursuit of truth by those who are unequal."

"Americans have substituted the image of the mother hen for the American eagle."

LAST RESORT

Governments never should be a first aid — but a last resort.

Harvey said that by taking incentive away from youngsters who don't have to get out and scratch for anything, the teenagers do something else for thrills — rape a little girl, take linction, trial set for March 31, and Walter E. Hendricks, 32, Negro, Farmerville, also charged with driving without a chauffeur's license, warrant issued.

narcotics, break into a store. "Storms are a part of the necessary normal climate of life," he said, but the United States' ratio of seven per cent of the world's population and 50 per cent of its good things, "invite laziness and sloth."

"If we can revive first in ourselves and in our youth the basic American creed, faith," in God, in ourselves, he said, American may not follow the path of all the other great nations which reached their zenith in about 150 years and then "rotted away from moral and social decay."

"Politicians in an effort to get votes have promised us security for independence... the paycheck is something the world owes us. Today we are regulated in business, regimented by government."

"It may be as the dictators say: we're not competent to govern ourselves. In the beginning, Americans under God did."

Cardinal weakness in America — taking our blessings for granted, he warned.

"Since World War II, communism has made a million new disciples each year. Times have not changed, we have. We win fewer converts today with all our wealth than our great granddaddies did with only a light in the window... After 1917, Democracy suddenly began to take herself for granted and found herself neglected."

Harvey stressed that Nikita Khrushchev has written a book available to anyone, "For Victory Competition with Capitalism," which gives complete details of how the Reds will try to win the world via economic cold war.

BOX SCORE

"The United States box score: we're leading 29-3... 29 earth satellites and two solar satellites placed in orbit." Sixteen of ours are still up there, compared to two of the Soviets, nine of ours are still broadcasting, compared to no Red units, he continued.

"Russia is 29 years behind us in steel, 16 years in electricity, 42 in coal, 35 in butter, 65 years in wool fabrics... a wool suit costs a Russian $2940.00. Their farming is equal to that of the United States just after the Civil War."

"Khrushchev counts on one other factor," said Harvey, who then revealed what FBI agents intercepted in February 1959, the head Red's instructions to communists in the U.S., to "infiltrate, undermine and degrade the U.S. economic system."

Harvey forecast that we now can expect the commies here to use psychological sabotage, to stir up labor trouble, and restlessness of American labor, demand for four-day work weeks, shorter hours, more pay, to damage the value of the U.S. dollar.

"He's (Khrushchev) on the defensive now. We've got it made unless we do some darn fool thing like going to sleep: demanding longer coffee breaks, earlier retirement, shorter work weeks."

"This is the testing time, this is the shakedown cruise."

Georgia School Bills Approved By Legislature

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Georgia Legislature Friday passed Gov. Ernest Vandiver's four-part program for keeping the state's public schools open even if they are integrated.

The measures, passed in the wake of federal court-ordered integration of the University of Georgia, now go to Vandiver for his signature. Three of the measures passed unanimously. One vote was cast against a measure proposing a state constitutional amendment guaranteeing children freedom of association by state Sen. Erwin Mitchell, a former U. S. representative.

Elections Due In El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — San Salvador's new ruling junta said Friday it hoped for closer ties with the United States. It promised speedy national elections.

Jose F. Valiente, one of the five-man civilian-military directorate set up after the armed forces seized control Tuesday said the date for the elections would depend on how soon the country settles back to normal.

He said the new regime has definite plans for agrarian reforms to help small farmers.

He playfully took a swipe at TV during a lighter part of his speech, when he mentioned things that might impress Will Rogers, if the famed humorist were to come back.

"Old Will was spared television. Now, Governor, if I've given you the impression I don't like television" — here Harvey paused to let the audience absorb his remark to TV station owner James A. Noe, then continued with the brief quip, "I don't." The audience roared with laughter.

Junior High Boy Admits Slaying Girl

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — A 14-year-old junior high school student admitted the bludgeoning slaying of a pretty classmate Friday, "because she was teasing me and laughing at me."

The boy, Danny Sisneros, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Sisneros, of Albuquerque, was charged with murder under the juvenile code.

The victim was Janice Marguerite McKerrrow, 14, an honor student at the same school. Her body was found Thursday night with her skull crushed in a small arroyo only about two blocks from her home.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan H. McKerrrow. Juvenile Court Judge Edwin Swope said the probation officer would investigate the case and a hearing would probably be held in a week or two. He said he presumed psychiatric tests would be made on young Sisneros.

The hearing will determine whether the boy will be tried for the crime as a juvenile or as an adult in District Court.

Police said the slaying occurred several hours before the body of the girl was found at 7:50 p.m.

She had been beaten repeatedly about the head with a cinder block. The block was found lying on her face.

Professor, Student Die In Home Fire

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A well known oil research scientist at Louisiana State University and a pretty girl student from Finland died in flames Friday after he tried to rescue her.

Witnesses said Prof. Raymond J. Strawinski, 44, after his wife and daughter escaped, dashed back into the blazing home searching for the 17-year-old house guest. The roof collapsed.

Marianna Krogerus, the girl victim, a foreign exchange student from Helsinki, had been living in the Strawinski home since last August.

Two days ago, in a school talk, she said "these last six months have been the most wonderful of my life."

Sheriff Seizes Cuban Airliner

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — A Cubana Airlines Constellation that made an emergency landing here last week was attached by a sheriff Friday to satisfy a lien filed by a man who claimed his property was seized in Cuba.

A warrant was issued directing Mecklenburg County Sheriff J. Clyde Hunter to confiscate the four-engine aircraft which landed here last Saturday on a flight from Havana to Montreal, Canada.

The Mecklenburg County Superior Court issued the attachment warrant to satisfy a claim by Jeffrey Shapiro. Shapiro said property he owned in Cuba had been seized by the regime of Fidel Castro.

Shapiro asked for 20 days in which to formally file his complaint.

How Dr. Nason Helped a Boy's Future

The boy was overweight and unpleasant. He lacked confidence; he was failing in school. Nobody liked him except his mother.

"If he could just learn to make better grades," she said, "maybe that would help."

She had failed to help him improve those grades. So had the school. The boy was failing. Then someone told the mother about a man who might perform the miracle.

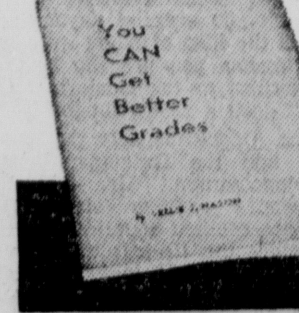

As he had so many times before, Dr. Leslie J. Nason, educator and specialist in study habits, took the case.

By teaching the boy how to study he performed the miracle of lifting him from failure to scholastic success—as well as success with other children.

"He wasn't stupid," Dr. Nason notes. "He just never had been taught how to learn."

In simple, nontechnical language, Dr. Nason now reveals some effective, neglected techniques of the art of learning. Don't miss the articles on "You CAN Get Better Grades," which Dr. Nason has written with Harry Karns. The series starts in this paper Monday.

And be sure to send for the complete booklet, "You CAN Get Better Grades," being offered for $1 with this series. It can be the answer to your school problems.

The series starts Mon., Jan. 30 in MORNING WORLD

AMONG BRITISH

Royal Tiger Hunt Stirs Controversy

LONDON (AP) — Egged on by a mass circulation newspaper, scores of Britons took pot shots Friday at the royal family for slaying a tiger in faraway India. But among the telegrams and letters pouring into the tabloid Daily Mirror, Prince Philip and Queen Elizabeth II had some staunch defenders.

The controversy began when the queen and her husband went on a tiger hunt as guests of the Maharajah of Jaipur. The queen armed herself with a movie camera, but Philip had real shooting irons. And he used them with deadly effect, bagging a tiger.

"Letters are streaming in to support the Mirror's criticism of 'this tiny moment of sport' which cost a magnificent beast its life," said the paper in a front-page editorial. It quoted many of them.

"What a disgusting and revolting thing for the queen and her husband to take part in," wrote D. F. Parsons. "We all feel quite sick at the thought of that lovely creature being killed to give them (the queen and Philip) fun."

Defending the queen and her husband, I. J. Wagg telegraphed the Mirror from Derby: "You also seem to be on a hunt. Suggest Prince Philip turn his guns on you."

Mrs. E. J. Brixton wrote: "One is puzzled by the fact that the queen is chief patron of the Royal Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It doesn't make sense — a lover of animals could never condone such things."

Sir Derek Greenaway, joint master of the Old Surrey and Burston Hunt, told a meeting of the Westernham Fat Stock Show Society: "I am ashamed to say I have some stock in the Daily Mirror. It is my intention to sell it tomorrow."

Before the queen and Philip left on their current Eastern tour, they were well aware that the tiger shoot might create controversy in Britain. Recalling last week's royal departure, a source close to the royal family quoted this dialogue at London Airport.

Philip — "If I'm lucky enough to bag a tiger I suppose it'll stir up a lot of old ladies."

Queen — "Don't any of them ever figure that maybe the tiger will get us?"

Rush Keeps Two Sheldon Banks Busy

SHELDON, Iowa (UPI) — Sheldon's two banks did a land-office business Friday—but only one of them enjoyed the rush.

Depositors lined up at the local Sheldon National Bank as the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) continued to thaw the 10-day economic freeze clamped on the community by Mrs. Burnice Geiger's $3 million embezzlement.

Mrs. Geiger, the bank president's 58-year-old daughter and assistant cashier of the institution, was jailed in Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 18. The bank was taken over by the FDIC and closed to the public until Thursday.

Small crowds, some joking and laughing, braved near-zero temperatures to line up at the five windows of the Sheldon National Bank. Most of them went right around the corner to the Security State Bank, the community's only remaining solvent bank, to deposit the money.

"We've got a lobby full of depositors," Security State President C. L. Schneider said. "They're backed up to the doors."

He said he had to add "two extra girls" to handle the load of new business and that, starting next week, the bank would temporarily abandon its lunch closing hour to speed up deposits.

Schneider said practically all of the former Sheldon National Bank depositors were depositing their FDIC checks in his bank—not just cashing them.

Increase In Fine Now In Effect; Negro Goes First

The raise in fines on weapons charges went into effect yesterday when Judge W. M. Harper fined a Monroe Negro $350 and costs for use of a knife in municipal court.

The fine was levied on L. V. Strickland of 1725 S. Wood St. and failure to pay the fine will result in a seven-month jail sentence.

The judge fined an Olla man, Ellis C. Parker, $50 for indecent exposure and $25 for disturbing the peace. A charge of vagrancy against him was nolle prossed.

Darrell Finley of 1711 S. Fifth St. was fined $25 and costs for fighting while Merle Cauthron of 212 Sixth St. was fined $50 and costs for disturbing the peace. Cauthron was originally charged with vagrancy, but Harper changed the charge.

A Negro, James Jones of 615 Layton St. was fined $25 and costs for disturbing the peace and a peace warrant against him was nolle prossed.

Fined for public drunkenness was Wade Netherland of George Breece Manor. He was fined $25 and costs of court.

In traffic court, three fined for reckless driving included Marguerite Wilson of Route Two; Edward F. Willey of 706 Nichols St.; and Negro Harriett Louis of Apt. 25-B, Texas Avenue.

Fined for failure to yield the right of way at a stop sign were Edward Berry, 1409 South Fifth St.; Clara M. Gates of 206 Smith St.; and Gerald W. Hodnett of 2602½ N. Fifth St.

Judge Harper fined Jesse Furr of 2914 Gordon Av. $13 for improper brakes and Marvin L. Smart of 501 Winsboro Rd., $8 for running a red light.

Negro Willie Stephens of Apt. 71-C Texas Av. was fined $15 for turning where prohibited.

Loss Is $65,000 In Derailment

ROBINSVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Illinois Central officials Friday estimated damage from a 20-car derailment Thursday at $65,000 and said traffic resumed over the line at 3 p.m. Friday.

The derailment tied up traffic on the branch line between Vicksburg and Memphis. Passenger service which runs through the state east of this line, was not affected.

A spokesman said a defective wheel on one of the train's 150 cars apparently caused the derailment.

Transferring Passengers At Sea Risky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transferring passengers from the liner Santa Maria to U.S. warships at sea, as has been suggested, would be an intricate bit of seamanship.

It is done daily by Navy ships. But the persons transferred are experienced at sea, not casual passengers who may never have been on a ship before, nor women or children.

There are four general methods for moving a person from one ship to another.

The easiest, and perhaps the safest, is by helicopter.

If both ships have helicopter landing platforms, the transfer is simple, a man steps into a helicopter, it lifts off, flies over to the other ship and lands.

If one ship has no landing platform, the winch method is used. A steel cable is lowered by a powered winch in the helicopter. The passenger slips his arms through a belt-like loop. The winch cranks him up into a helicopter.

A second method, also widely used by the Navy, is the "high line" transfer.

Here a breeches buoy — like those you see in Coast Guard rescues of sailors from stranded ships — is used. It is slung on a trolley which rides along a wire strung between two ships usually about 100 feet apart and both steaming at the same speed.

The speed of the two ships must be synchronized perfectly. Thus distance between the ships must be maintained within a few feet. Any sudden increase or decrease in the spacing distance can dunk the passenger in the sea — or far worse, snap the line and leave him in the turbulence between the two ships.

The traditional method is transfer by small boat. Relatively calm water is needed, except in extreme emergencies where risks must be taken.

The fourth technique involves bringing the two ships alongside. This should be done in a millpond, not on the high seas. The roll of the ships grinds them together, shearing away fittings or even hull plates.

Except for swimming, this is the least popular of the methods.

Pair Injured In 2 Accidents

Monroe police reported two traffic accidents involving injuries Friday.

Edward M. Downing, 27, of 2605 Lexington Ave., was injured when the auto he was driving collided with a car driven by Mrs. Martha S. Reine, 29, of route four, Monroe.

The collision occurred at the intersection of Powell Avenue and Elm Street.

Mrs. Reine was cited for reckless driving.

An eight-year-old youth, Charles Philip Accardo, 503 S. First St., was taken to St. Francis after he was struck by an auto on Grammont Street.

His injuries apparently were not serious.

Driver of the car was identified as Charles E. Nugent, 23, 1200 S. First. Police said no improper driving was indicated.

Slayer Is Given Death Sentence

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Richard Arlen Lindsey, described by the district attorney as a "blight on society," Friday was sentenced to die in the gas chamber for the confessed rape slaying of 6-year-old Rose Marie Riddle.

Superior Judge William F. Bradshaw passed sentence Friday immediately at the close of a one-day hearing. Lindsey, 30, a seemingly impassive former mental patient and ex-convict, admitted he sexually assaulted, choked and then beat blue-eyed, blonde-haired Rose Marie on Jan. 12.

His pregnant wife, Dixie, a witness to the killing, also faced murder charges.

Bradshaw also sentenced Lindsey to life for kidnap in the killing.

Lindsey showed no emotion as the sentences were read. But his mother, Mrs. I. A. Lindsey, Lubbock, Tex., broke into tears. Earlier, she told the court her son was disturbed, but could be "kind, calm and considerate."

Jesse F. Dumas Rites Monday

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 3 p.m. in the Hixson Bros. chapel for Jesse Franklin Dumas, 65, retired farmer, who died yesterday morning in a local hospital. Officiating will be the Rev. R. E. MacDonald of the Memorial Park Baptist Church. Interment is to be in the Riverview Cemetery.

Mr. Dumas is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Dumas, of Monroe; one son, George Albert Dumas, also of Monroe; three daughters, Mrs. C. R. Strickland, Monroe; Mrs. Margie Beasley, Pleasant Hill, Calif.; and Mrs. Movala Noland, Fairbanks; two brothers, Harrison Dumas of Ruston and Jimmy Dumas, Shreveport, and 10 grandchildren.

Appeal Slated In Lease Suit By Whittington

NATCHITOCHES (Special) — Plans for appeal of the dismissal of a suit filed against state insurance officials have been announced by D. H. Whittington, former Louisiana deputy auditor, who filed the original action.

The suit had been brought to prevent the officials from leasing a building from Dr. George Azar in Baton Rouge, and to void a lease agreement between the Casualty and Surety Division of the state insurance department and Dr. Azar. It points out omissions in agreements for payment for electricity, inside finishing and other details.

Also, omitted, according to Whittington, is any reference to the duration of the lease, though reportedly it is for a period of ten years.

Whittington said Commissioner of Administration James A. Reilly, to whom the lease has been referred for approval by the state insurance department, had assured him that it had not been his policy to approve leases for more than five years.

Of the lease, Whittington commented, "It is one of the most loosely worded documents I have ever read."

Archbishop Is Expelled By Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The secessionist Katanga Province government Friday ordered a Greek Orthodox archbishop expelled and arrested 100 "security risk" Africans in the midst of reports that forces loyal to leftist ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba planned to attack.

Troops of the United Nations Command in northern Katanga and forces of the Katanga provincial regime, commanded by European officers, began maneuvering for position to head off a threatened incursion by 300 pro-Lumumba troops in Kasai Province.

The government of Katanga President Moïse Tshombe gave Archbishop Kyprianos, Orthodox primate for all central Africa, six days to leave the province as an "undesirable person." He was accused of accepting a Russian Orthodox church decoration during a visit to Cairo and plotting with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser for Lumumba's return to power.

The archbishop denied any plots. He said he accepted the decoration from Russian Orthodox Patriarch Alexis as a simple courtesy from one church leader to another.

The 100 Africans seized were arrested in a tribal quarter of Elisabethville and joined in jail another 400 members of tribes opposed to Tshombe.

The U.N. command in Leopoldville sent a detachment of high officers to Stanleyville in Oriental Province, seat of the pro-Lumumba forces, to supervise removal of Europeans — mostly Belgians and French — who have been advised to get out by their governments.

Europeans in Kivu Province, also a Lumumba stronghold, were told to leave as soon as possible.

The U. N. command said it wanted to make the departure of Europeans as smooth as possible, but it gave its troops permission to use force, if necessary, to prevent pro-Lumumba Congolese from interfering.

AMONG BRITISH

Royal Tiger Hunt Stirs Controversy

LONDON (AP) — Egged on by a mass circulation newspaper, scores of Britons took pot shots Friday at the royal family for slaying a tiger in faraway India.

But among the telegrams and letters pouring into the tabloid Daily Mirror, Prince Philip and Queen Elizabeth II had some staunch defenders.

The controversy began when the queen and her husband went on a tiger hunt as guests of the Maharajah of Jaipur. The queen armed herself with a movie camera, but Philip had real shooting irons. And he used them with deadly effect, bagging a tiger.

"Letters are streaming in to support the Mirror's criticism of 'this tiny moment of sport' which cost a magnificent beast its life," said the paper in a front-page editorial. It quoted many of them.

"What a disgusting and revolting thing for the queen and her husband to take part in," wrote D. F. Parsons. "We all feel quite sick at the thought of that lovely creature being killed to give them (the queen and Philip) fun."

Defending the queen and her husband, I. J. Wagg telegraphed the Mirror from Derby: "You also seem to be on a hunt. Suggest Prince Philip turn his guns on you."

Mrs. E. J. Brixton wrote: "One is puzzled by the fact that the queen is chief patron of the Royal Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It doesn't make sense — a lover of animals could never condone such things."

Sir Derek Greenaway, joint master of the Old Surrey and Burston Hunt, told a meeting of the Western Fat Stock Show Society: "I am ashamed to say I have some stock in the Daily Mirror. It is my intention to sell it tomorrow."

Before the queen and Philip left on their current Eastern tour, they were well aware that the tiger hunt might create controversy in Britain. Recalling last week's royal departure, a source close to the royal family quoted this dialogue at London Airport.

Philip — "If I'm lucky enough to bag a tiger I suppose it'll stir up a lot of old ladies."

Rush Keeps Two Sheldon Banks Busy

SHELDON, Iowa (UPI) — Sheldon's two banks did a land-office business Friday—but only one of them enjoyed the rush.

Depositors lined up at the local Sheldon National Bank as the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) continued to thaw the 10-day economic freeze clamped on the community by Mrs. Burnice Geiger's $2 million embezzlement.

Mrs. Geiger, the bank president's 58-year-old daughter and assistant cashier of the institution, was jailed in Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 16. The bank was taken over by the FDIC and closed to the public until Thursday.

Small crowds, some joking and laughing, braved near-zero temperatures to line up at the five windows of the Sheldon National to collect on their FDIC-insured funds. Most of them went right around the corner to the Security State Bank, the community's only remaining solvent bank, to deposit the money.

"We've got a lobby full of depositors," Security State President C. L. Schneider said. "They're backed up to the doors."

He said he had to add "two extra girls" to handle the load of new business and that, starting next week, the bank would temporarily abandon its lunch closing hour to speed up deposits.

Schneider said practically all of the former Sheldon National Bank depositors were depositing their FDIC checks in his bank—not just cashing them.

Increase In Fine Now In Effect; Negro Goes First

The raise in fines on weapons charges went into effect yesterday when Judge W. M. Harper fined a Monroe Negro $350 and costs for use of a knife in municipal court.

The fine was levied on L. V. Strickland of 1725 S. Wood St. and failure to pay the fine will result in a seven-month jail sentence.

The judge fined an Olla man, Ellis C. Parker, $50 for indecent exposure and $25 for disturbing the peace. A charge of vagrancy against him was nolle prossed.

Darrell Finley of 1711 S. Fifth St. was fined $25 and costs for fighting while Merle Cauthron of 212 Sixth St. was fined $50 and costs for disturbing the peace. Cauthron was originally charged with vagrancy, but Harper changed the charge.

A Negro, James Jones of 615 Layton St. was fined $25 and costs for disturbing the peace and a peace warrant against him was nolle prossed.

Fined for public drunkenness was Wade Netherland of George Breece Manor. He was fined $25 and costs of court.

In traffic court, three fined for reckless driving included Margaret Wilson of Route Two; Edward P. Willey of 706 Nichols St.; and Negro Harriett Louis of Apt. 25-B, Texas Avenue.

Fined for failure to yield the right of way at a stop sign were Edward Berry, 1409 South Fifth St.; Clara M. Gates of 208 Smith St.; and Gerald W. Hodnett of 2602½ N. Fifth St.

Judge Harper fined Jesse Furr of 2914 Gordon Av. $13 for improper brakes and Marvin L. Smart of 501 Winnsboro Rd., $6 for running a red light.

Negro Willie Stephens of Apt. 71-C Texas Av. was fined $15 for turning where prohibited.

Loss Is $65,000 In Derailment

ROBINSVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Illinois Central officials Friday estimated damage from a 20-car derailment Thursday at $65,000 and said traffic resumed over the line at 3 p.m. Friday.

The derailment tied up traffic on the branch line between Vicksburg and Memphis. Passenger service which runs through the state east of this line, was not effected.

A spokesman said a defective wheel on one of the train's 150 cars apparently caused the derailment.

Transferring Passengers At Sea Risky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transferring passengers from the liner Santa Maria to U.S. warships at sea, as has been suggested, would be an intricate bit of seamanship.

It is done daily by Navy ships. But the persons transferred are experienced at sea, not casual passengers who may never have been on a ship before, nor women or children.

There are four general methods for moving a person from one ship to another.

The easiest, and perhaps the safest, is by helicopter.

If both ships have helicopter landing platforms, the transfer is simple, a man steps into a helicopter, it lifts off, flies over to the other ship and lands.

If one ship has no landing platform, the winch method is used. A steel cable is lowered by a powered winch in the helicopter. The passenger slips his arms through a belt-like loop. The winch cranks him up into a helicopter.

A second method, also widely used by the Navy, is the "high line" transfer.

Here a breeches buoy — like those you see in Coast Guard rescues of sailors from stranded ships — is used. It is slung on a trolley which rides along a wire strung between two ships usually about 100 feet apart and both steaming at the same speed.

The speed of the two ships must be synchronized perfectly. The distance between the ships must be maintained within a few feet. Any sudden increase or decrease in the spacing distance can dunk the passenger in the sea — or far worse, snap the line and leave him in the turbulence between the two ships.

The traditional method is transfer by small boat. Relatively calm water is needed, except in extreme emergencies where risks must be taken.

The fourth technique involves bringing the two ships alongside. This should be done in a millpond, not on the high seas. The roll of the ships grinds them together, shearing away fittings or even hull plates.

Except for swimming, this is the least popular of the methods.

Pair Injured In 2 Accidents

Monroe police reported two traffic accidents involving injuries Friday.

Edward M. Downing, 27, of 2605 Lexington Ave., was injured when the auto he was driving collided with a car driven by Mrs. Martha S. Reine, 29, of route four, Monroe.

The collision occurred at the intersection of Powell Avenue and Elm Street.

Mrs. Reine was cited for reckless driving.

An eight-year-old youth, Charles Philip Accardo, 503 S. First St., was taken to St. Francis after he was struck by an auto on Grammont Street.

His injuries apparently were not serious.

Slayer Is Given Death Sentence

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Richard Arlen Lindsey, described by the district attorney as a "blight on society," Friday was sentenced to die in the gas chamber for the confessed rape slaying of 6-year-old Rose Marie Riddle.

Superior Judge William F. Bradshaw passed sentence Friday immediately at the close of a one-day hearing. Lindsey, 30, a seemingly impassive former mental patient and ex-convict, admitted he sexually assaulted, choked and then beat blue-eyed, blonde-haired Rose Marie on Jan. 12.

His pregnant wife, Dixie, a witness to the killing, also faced murder charges.

Bradshaw also sentenced Lindsey to life for kidnap in the killing.

Lindsey showed no emotion as the sentence was read. But his mother, Mrs. I. A. Lindsey, Lubbock, Tex., broke into tears. Earlier, she told the court her son was disturbed, but could be "kind, calm and considerate."

Jesse F. Dumas Rites Monday

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. in the Hixson Bros. chapel for Jesse Franklin Dumas, 65, retired farmer, who died yesterday morning in a local hospital. Officiating will be the Rev. R. E. MacDonald of the Memorial Park Baptist Church. Interment is to be in the Riverview Cemetery.

Mr. Dumas is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Dumas, of Monroe; one son, George Albert Dumas, also of Monroe; three daughters, Mrs. C. R. Strickland, Monroe; Mrs. Margie Beezley, Pleasant Hill, Calif.; and Mrs. Movala Notand, Fairbanks; two brothers, Harrison Dumas of Ruston and Jimmy Dumas, Shreveport, and 10 grandchildren.

Alarm System

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Tallahassee merchants have set up a cooperative alarm system to cut down on losses from worthless checks passers and shoplifters.

When a storekeeper detects a bad check or sees a shoplifter making off with goods, he calls the sheriff's office and gives all the information available about the offender. A deputy calls two merchants and each calls two more and so on until the alarm is out all over town.

If the shoplifter or bad check writer tries his tricks at another store, there's a good chance he'll be nabbed immediately.

Appeal Slated In Lease Suit By Whittington

NATCHITOCHES (Special) — Plans for appeal of the dismissal of a suit filed against state insurance officials have been announced by D. H. Whittington, former Louisiana deputy auditor, who filed the original action.

The suit had been brought to prevent the officials from leasing a building from Dr. George Azar in Baton Rouge, and to void a lease agreement between the Casualty and Surety Division of the state insurance department and Dr. Azar. It points out omissions in agreements for payment for electricity, inside finishing and other details.

Also, omitted, according to Whittington, is any reference to the duration of the lease, though reportedly it is for a period of ten years.

Whittington said Commissioner of Administration James A. Reilly, to whom the lease has been referred for approval by the state insurance department, had assured him that it had not been his policy to approve leases for more than five years.

Of the lease, Whittington commented, "It is one of the most loosely worded documents I have ever read."

Archbishop Is Expelled By Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The secessionist Katanga Province government Friday ordered a Greek Orthodox archbishop expelled and arrested 100 "security risk" Africans in the midst of reports that forces loyal to leftist ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba planned to attack.

Troops of the United Nations Command in northern Katanga and forces of the Katanga provincial regime, commanded by European officers, began maneuvering for position to head off a threatened incursion by 300 pro-Lumumba troops in Kasai Province.

The government of Katanga President Moise Tshombe gave Archbishop Kyprianos, Orthodox primate for all central Africa, six days to leave the province as an "undesirable person." He was accused of accepting a Russian Orthodox church decoration during a visit to Cairo and plotting with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser for Lumumba's return to power.

The archbishop denied any plots. He said he accepted the decoration from Russian Orthodox Patriarch Alexis as a simple courtesy from one church leader to another.

The 100 Africans seized were arrested in a tribal quarter of Elisabethville and joined in jail another 400 members of tribes opposed to Tshombe.

The U.N. command in Leopoldville sent a detachment of high officers to Stanleyville in Oriental Province, seat of the pro-Lumumba forces, to supervise removal of Europeans — mostly Belgians and French — who have been advised to get out by their governments.

Europeans in Kivu Province, also a Lumumba stronghold, were told to leave as soon as possible.

The U. N. command said it wanted to make the departure of Europeans as smooth as possible, but it gave its troops permission to use force, if necessary, to prevent pro-Lumumba Congolese from interfering.

Sam Rayburn's Mistake

Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas, speaker of the house and house minority leader for more years than any man in the history of this country, at the age of 79 adopted a course that may change his name from Mr. Democrat to Mr. Socialist.

In order to get on the Kennedy bandwagon and to keep himself and his colleague, Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, in the political swim, he dumped his past record of a fairly good middle-of-the-roader at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles last year and raised the socialist diadem, pledging himself to do his utmost to carry out any radical-liberal proposal made by President John F. Kennedy.

Figuring that the only way he could help much in bringing about the enactment of leftist legislation was to pack house committees with "liberals" who would rubber-stamp anything the president wants, Mr. Rayburn began by trying to pad the rules committee, which controls a major portion of important legislation, with men who, like himself, are willing to let the president do all the thinking while they put their names down on the dotted line for anything he wants.

In taking this course, Mr. Rayburn not only is aligning himself with people who scorn the south and southern institutions, but is betraying congressional tradition and constitutional government.

It does not take a great deal of thought to realize that if the congressmen can do this to the rules committee they can do it to others.

It can be carried on into other institutions, notably the courts.

Many will recall that supreme court packing was attempted by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who wanted all of his schemes to have judicial approval, regardless of whether or not they conformed to the intent and meaning of the constitution. President Roosevelt gave this country a tremendous shove down the road toward socialism but at that time it had not gone far enough so that congress was willing to pack the supreme court by increasing the number of members from nine to 15. Mr. Roosevelt, however, later achieved his purposes of packing the court with "liberals" when he was able to appoint several members to fill vacancies caused by death and retirement.

We are surprised to see several Arkansas members of the house playing footsie with this crowd.

The foolish comment of Ross Eass that he never saw Sam Rayburn do anything wrong is nothing short of ridiculous.

Rayburn, like others, has made some mistakes down through the years but the biggest mistake he ever made was when he cast aside his own principles and own judgment, which had stood him in good stead for many years, and became nothing but yes-man for a candidate who received less than half the popular votes of the country when he ran for president.

For the sake of a few more years of power in the house of representatives, Speaker Rayburn not only has sold his birthright of doing his own individual thinking but has turned his back on the people of the south and on those of the whole nation. His attempt to scourge democracy is a pitiable thing.

Douglas And Marxism

Senator Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), one of the most devout espousers of radical-socialism in the United States, whose dependability many members of congress have long doubted, has laid before congress a legislative program for Marxism.

When the 1960 Democratic platform was unveiled in Los Angeles last summer, many believed it was more a political scheme for winning the election than an actual contemplated program for charting the future course of this country.

In recent weeks there has been strong reason to doubt that this is true. Panels of so-called experts, organized into "task forces," have produced documents which indicate the platform was much more than a campaign promise to be forgotten after election day, as some of those who had no appetite for it but were compelled to swallow it to stay with the party chose to believe.

Senator Douglas has asserted there is an acute need for aid to distressed areas.

A task force headed by Dr. Frederick Hovde, president of Purdue University, has produced a report stating a need for $3.5 billion in federal aid to education, thus scuttling the claim that the government's primary interest was in helping to provide adequate buildings.

Another group has come forth with an endorsement of a multi-billion-dollar expenditure on housing and a new cabinet department to operate the program.

Paul Samuelson, another professor, has urged that the new administration spend from $3 billion to $5 billion to combat the "recession." He sees socialistic spending as the cure-all.

Douglas' report goes far beyond what the 1960 party platform approved. He wants to change defense department procurement so as to make it and adjunct of foreign policy planning.

Supporting the theory that people were created for the benefit of the state, Douglas would move workers about the country in accordance with a plan prepared by the federal government.

The senator wants the establishment of a federal fuels agency with the power to make decisions as to who should use what fuels and for what purpose.

These reports look to an America in which virtually every aspect of life—from the use of coal, oil and gas to an individual's education, recreation and housing—is directed by the federal government through a multiplicity of agencies.

About all Senator Douglas does not seek is federal ownership of means of production and he doubtless would eventually sponsor that. His plan is a blueprint for a Marxist economy in the United States.

The senator should go one step farther and be candid with the public, admitting what he wants is state socialism.

Certainly, the regimented America envisioned in these task forces is barely distinguishable from Russia.

Conservatives in this country should use every possible means to prevent the radical-socialists from gaining unbridled control of congress.

In Greek mythology, Echo was a nymph who grieved so over the failure of Narcissus to return her affection that she pined away until nothing was left but her voice.

Spiking The Punch

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Kennedy Monroe Doctrine

Asserts United States Will Pay Any Price, Bear Any Burden To Assure Survival Of Liberty

In his inaugural address, President Kennedy laid down his policy. Kennedy said: "Let every nation know, whether it wish us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and success of liberty."

"This much we pledge — and more."

Then he restated the Monroe Doctrine in his own words: "To our sister republics south of our border, we offer a special pledge — to convert our good words into good deeds—in a new alliance for progress — to assist free men and free governments in casting off the chains of poverty. But this peaceful revolution of hope cannot become the prey of hostile powers. Let all our neighbors know that we shall join with them to oppose aggression or subversion anywhere in the Americas. And let every other power know that this hemisphere intends to remain the master of its own house."

In many respects this statement is as strong, if not stronger than the original Monroe Doctrine. In fact, Kennedy issued a threat — clearly a threat — to those nations "who would make themselves our adversary."

"Finally, to those nations who would make themselves our adversary, we offer not a pledge but a request: that both sides begin anew the quest for peace, before the dark powers of destruction unleashed by science engulf all humanity in planned or accidental self-destruction."

"We dare not tempt them with weakness. For only when our arms are sufficient beyond doubt can we be certain beyond doubt that they will never be employed."

If these statements are put together, they become a guiding policy, namely, that the United States will prepare vigorously for war, if it should come; that the United States has no program of appeasement but does have a program of the defense of liberty and territorial independence, for all peoples, particularly for those of the Americas.

The United States seeks peace and is willing to negotiate for peace, but it will not negotiate from fear. He said:

"So let us begin anew—remembering on both sides that civility is not a sign of weakness, and sincerity is always subject to proof. Let us never negotiate out of fear. But let us never fear to negotiate."

Khrushchev understands precisely what all this means. He will excerpt these paragraphs as they are excerpted here: he will tear the thought out of the verbiage and recognize that he is dealing with a tough hombre, who does not speak soft or act soft. All this will be clear to the Russian. He is warned that good manners are "not a sign of weakness," but their lack can engender disgust. If Khrushchev believes that Kennedy is a sissy and that he can hurt a shoe at him, he is mistaken.

On the other hand, President Kennedy must recognize that Soviet Russia cannot relinquish its main objective which is to reduce the entire world to an acceptance of Marxist sociology and economics. Whereas Khrushchev masks his intentions behind such generous phrases as competitive co-existence, Mao Tse-tung is more honest and frank. Mao, as an orthodox Communist, desires a war upon the United States immediately. In the recent great conference in Moscow, Mao's insistence upon war was voted down, but every statement out of Peking establishes his moral rejection of the Kremlin decision. Mao has a famine to look after; otherwise he would not have retreated.

President Kennedy in his inaugural says he will not make Harry Truman's mistake about "good, old Joe." He said: "Sincerity is always subject to proof." Also, Kennedy is in no hurry:

"All this will not be finished in the first 100 days. Nor will it be finished in the first 1,000 days, nor in the life of this administration, nor even perhaps in our lifetime on this planet . . ."

Surely, the course toward understanding did not begin with this inaugural address. It began when Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill rescued Stalin from defeat and were rewarded by treachery. It began when the United States gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 to fund the industry which is now being used against us. It began at Yalta and Camp David and before that at the first summit conference. "Let us begin" is not historically correct. "Let us try again after many failures and disappointments," would have been more accurate.

Coronary Spell

Test Showing Normal Cholesterol Content Is No Guarantee

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Sometimes I wonder if it is wise for some people to have a blood cholesterol taken. My husband is an example. Because his father and older brother died of coronary disease, our doctor suggested that he go in for a blood cholesterol examination. It was normal. Since then he has kicked up his heels.

He overeats (especially fats and fried foods). He also works too hard, drinks too much and puts away at least 1 1/2 packs of cigarettes a day.

"I'm different," he keeps saying. "My cholesterol proves that I haven't got a thing to worry about." Dr. Steincrohn, what can I do with such a stubborn man? —Mrs. O.

ANSWER: You might call this reply to his attention. Perhaps we can both knock some sense into his head.

Mr. O., I write this especially for you. Consider it an informal talk across a doctor's desk. Right off, I'll tell you that I consider your family history of coronary disease more important than your cholesterol readings. I am not saying that you are a sure candidate for a coronary attack because it "runs in your family." But I am saying that heredity is important.

Your wife tells me that you are living high off the hog simply because a blood cholesterol reading was normal. Therefore I want to warn you that a normal cholesterol is no guarantee against having a coronary attack. (And conversely, people with high blood cholesterol readings aren't necessarily sure candidates, either.)

Atherosclerosis — the forerunner of such attacks — can develop even when the blood is not overloaded with cholesterol.

Let me give you an interesting example I came across recently. Dr. Henry C. McGill and his associates reported a study of the arteries of 100 baboons. In many there was evidence of atherosclerosis (gradual closing off and damage to coats of arteries).

What do baboons live on mostly? On fruits, berries and grains. Hardly any cholesterol in their diet.

And how high was the blood cholesterol in these baboons? The average was 80 milligrams — which is quite low.

Yet, Mr. O., many had atherosclerosis! We are closer to baboons than you may realize. I hope this convinces you to slow down all around. Stop worrying your wife needlessly.

I am not degrading the importance of cholesterol readings; but they should not be the only consideration in the management of potential coronary disease.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: You have written columns about a great many things — how about a column on how loud radio, TV, Hi-Fi and other canned music can affect a person?

The majority of people don't seem to mind but for some of us who don't like it, it really is terrible. Sometimes it makes me so nervous I want to just run and run until I get away from it all. There is a time and place for things, but golly it seems now you run into loud radio, etc. in restaurants, supermarkets, at exhibits and other public places. —Miss W., Washington.

COMMENT: I assure you, it's no joke! You know how distressing it is to look towards the sun on a bright day without the protection of dark glasses. Sensitive eyes just can't take it. Loud noises have a similar effect on those of us with especially sensitive hearing.

I really have no solution, unfortunately. All I can suggest is to try to dull the impact on your ear drums by putting some cotton (or other ear gadgets) into your ears. For some people they act on excessive noise as dark glasses neutralize excessive light. If you are really "in a state of nerves," your doctor will prescribe some sedative or tranquilizer to make your hearing less sensitive. We can't eliminate noise; therefore the only solution seems for us to take measures to adjust to it.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have four sons all of whom are interested in the summer swimming instruction classes at the public pools. My one big worry at this time is polio. My boys have had the complete series of Salk shots. —Mrs. T.

ANSWER: Ask your doctor about the need for booster doses. As for the swimming — let them go to it. The need for learning how to swim outweighs any remote possibility of polio infection.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: For about six months I have been having increasing pain in my right heel. Special shoes, foot baths, lotions — all seem to be useless. I have not bruised the heel but it feels that way. Any suggestions? —Mr. E.

ANSWER: Have you been to a bone specialist (orthopedist)? Have you had x-rays of the heel? Sometimes the cause of similar discomfort is a "spur" or bony overgrowth in the heel.

Surgery is sometimes the only cure. Don't go on suffering needlessly. Better find out what it's all about.

BASCOM TIMMONS

Minimum Wage

Kennedy Administration Not Expected To Disappoint Labor

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara undoubtedly considers the question of whether the minimum wage should be raised from $1 to $1.25 an hour and coverage extended to millions of additional workers as something out of his province. He has quite enough to do to master and manage the Defense Establishment, he clearly recognizes.

Yet quite unconsciously on his part an action of Secretary McNamara has resulted in putting the administration steam behind the minimum wage legislation and made an immediate effort for the federally dictated wage hikes certain.

Secretary McNamara, who asked and received from the then President — elect a promise of a free hand in the selection of his subordinates, used that promise to reject Joseph D. Keenan, an American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations official, as Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower.

The 64-year-old Keenan is secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Keenan had the powerful backing of George Meany, president of AFL-CIO for the Defense Department post. It is in the opinion of Meany, a post of more importance to labor than even the Secretary of Labor portfolio in the President's Cabinet.

Meany lost no time in letting it be known that he regarded the rebuff to Keenan as an act of unfriendliness to organized labor. Mr. Kennedy, two days before his inauguration, went to a meeting of thirty labor leaders called by Meany but was unable to pacify Meany and other top labor men.

Having disappointed organized labor leaders in not appointing one of their number to the important manpower post in the Department of Defense on which labor had set its heart the Kennedy Administration has no idea of dis-appointing these leaders on minimum wage legislation.

Representative Adam Clayton Powell of New York, new chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, has already started the machinery of his committee toward getting the legislation on the floor of the House. Powell, powerful Negro leader, moved into the chairmanship at this session of Congress, succeeding retired Representative Graham Barden of North Carolina, who was unfavorable to minimum wage proposals.

It has been the House where minimum wage legislation met its most determined opposition. Powell believes the legislation will fare better in that branch at a session despite the fact that Republican membership increase as a result of the recent election.

President Kennedy has a special interest in the legislation. He was the author of unsuccessful legislation in the last session of Congress not only to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour, but to increase the coverage to more than seven million employees in new exempt retail and services businesses. Kennedy fought for the enactment of his bill at the hot-tailed session of Congress in August, following the two national conventions, and after he was the already Democratic Presidential nominee.

The fight in this session of Congress will cover the same ground as in the last session. The 25 million persons now covered by the minimum wage law are in interstate commerce. The Kennedy bill would have covered industries "affecting commerce." Some of the opponents of the bill asserted that the proposal would have nullified the commerce clause of the Constitution of the United States.

Senator Sam J. Ervin of North Carolina in a Senate speech on August 12 said that the Kennedy bill would extend coverage to "establishments which are engaged in local activities and which have no direct relationship whatever to interstate commerce."

Ervin called the Kennedy bill "another indication of the trend to concentrate all governmental power, or virtually all governmental power, in Washington. This trend, if continued, will destroy our Government which was ordained by the Constitution to be an indestructible union composed of indestructible States."

Kennedy on the other hand told the Senate: "I think there is a tendency to wrap up this argument in very eloquent constitutional terms, when actually what is at stake is the question of whether these employers who are involved want to pay a decent wage."

Senator Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, has introduced a bill providing an increase of the minimum wage from the present $1 to $1.10 per hour. Dirksen insists that an increase to $1.25 per hour would be beyond the ability of many employers to absorb and would result in widespread unemployment.

Whether President Kennedy will limit himself to informing Congressional leaders of his desire for immediate minimum wage legislation or whether he will send a special message to Congress on the matter has not been determined. The belief, however, is that he will prod Congress by a special message.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER
U. S. Senator from Arizona

In the early beginnings of what we call civilization, when the tribe first organized, government was little more than the superior physical ability of the chief to better down his rivals and thus compel his followers to a condition of obedience.

In modern times, at least in democratic societies, rival contenders have put aside the stone ax and physical combat in favor of exhortation, personal appeal and sometimes television debates. When we speak of government today, we conjure up in the mind of each individual that manifestation of government which is closest to his or her daily life.

Federal government is symbolized by the Capitol Building in Washington, or the White House. Local government is the state House, or the Court House, or the County Supervisors or the City Magistrate.

Since the Great Depression, newspapers, magazines, radio and television have all emphasized what government can do for people. Harbors, bridges, highways, libraries, marketing services, soil bank payments and subsidies, supports for cotton and tobacco, aid to dependent children, social security checks, truly the cornucopia of governmental bounty overfloweth.

It seems to me that we should remind ourselves that fundamentally government is power. Power to compel us as individual citizens to perform certain duties and to conform to the rules established by the political society.

Stripped of its symbolism and panoply government is the naked instrument employed by the political organization in power to extract tribute from the citizen producer.

Government first, last and always is the tax collector. It is true we have succeeded in clothing the tax grab in a costume of rationalism. We have with great success, persuaded many of the citizens of the United States to accept governmental confiscation of income as something which happens only to the other fellow.

Income tax is withheld and never possessed by its rightful owner. Social security tax is deducted, excise taxes are included in the purchase price of almost everything we buy. Until only now and then is the individual brutally reminded that government demands one-third of all that is produced in the United States.

A talented and well-intentioned labor leader in my state was recently quoted as having a general tax increase for the next three months to get the economy back in high gear. It was suggested that if the producers of America could be given 100 per cent of their earnings, for even 90 days, their increased purchasing power would create prosperity.

After the quotation was published the labor leader wanted to qualify his statement. It wouldn't do to declare a moratorium on all income taxes. It would be better, he suggested, to limit the tax forgiveness to a special segment of society falling in certain earnings brackets.

This suggestion supports the notion that by selecting its victims the tax agency can be used to impose a special penalty on one segment of society and confer special benefits on another segment of society.

When will we ever learn that taxes taken by government are extracted from the standard of living of every citizen?

If you tax only businesses, the price of goods goes up.

If you tax only property, the cost of rent or ownership goes up.

Tax what you like, every penny confiscated must be subtracted from the earnings of producers, must be deducted from money which would otherwise be spent or invested in the normal channels of commerce to increase the growth and prosperity of the nation.

Benevolent but - batted bewitched old Uncle Sam is in reality the tax man masquerading as a friend of all the people.

In monarchies, dictatorships, republics and democracies, government is basically a device to collect taxes and spend this public money on necessary public services.

Sam Rayburn's Mistake

Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas, speaker of the house and house minority leader for more years than any man in the history of this country, at the age of 79 adopted a course that may change his name from Mr. Democrat to Mr. Socialist.

In order to get on the Kennedy bandwagon and to keep himself and his colleague, Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, in the political swim, he dumped his past record of a fairly good middle-of-the-roader at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles last year and raised the socialist diadem, pledging himself to do his utmost to carry out any radical-liberal proposal made by President John F. Kennedy.

Figuring that the only way he could help much in bringing about the enactment of leftist legislation was to pack house committees with "liberals" who would rubber-stamp anything the president wants, Mr. Rayburn began by trying to pad the rules committee, which controls a major portion of important legislation, with men who, like himself, are willing to let the president do all the thinking while they put their names down on the dotted line for anything he wants.

In taking this course, Mr. Rayburn not only is aligning himself with people who scorn the south and southern institutions, but is betraying congressional tradition and constitutional government.

It does not take a great deal of thought to realize that if the congressmen can do this to the rules committee they can do it to others.

It can be carried on into other institutions, notably the courts.

Douglas And Marxism

Senator Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), one of the most devout espousers of radical-socialism in the United States, whose dependability many members of congress have long doubted, has laid before congress a legislative program for Marxism.

When the 1960 Democratic platform was unveiled in Los Angeles last summer, many believed it was more a political scheme for winning the election than an actual contemplated program for charting the future course of this country.

In recent weeks there has been strong reason to doubt that this is true. Panels of so-called experts, organized into "task forces," have produced documents which indicate the platform was much more than a campaign promise to be forgotten after election day, as some of those who had no appetite for it but were compelled to swallow it to stay with the party chose to believe.

Senator Douglas has asserted there is an acute need for aid to distressed areas.

A task force headed by Dr. Frederick Hovde, president of Purdue University, has produced a report stating a need for $3.5 billion in federal aid to education, thus scuttling the claim that the government's primary interest was in helping to provide adequate buildings.

Another group has come forth with an endorsement of a multi-billion-dollar expenditure on housing and a new cabinet department to operate the program.

Paul Samuelson, another professor, has urged that the new administration spend from $3 billion to $5 billion to combat the "recession." He sees socialistic spending as the cure-all.

Douglas' report goes far beyond what the 1960 party platform ap-

Many will recall that supreme court packing was attempted by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who wanted all of his schemes to have judicial approval, regardless of whether or not they conformed to the intent and meaning of the constitution. President Roosevelt gave this country a tremendous shove down the road toward socialism but at that time it had not gone far enough so that congress was willing to pack the supreme court by increasing the number of members from nine to 15. Mr. Roosevelt, however, later achieved his purposes of packing the court with "liberals" when he was able to appoint several members to fill vacancies caused by death and retirement.

We are surprised to see several Arkansas members of the house playing footsie with this crowd. The foolish comment of Ross Bass that he never saw Sam Rayburn do anything wrong is nothing short of ridiculous.

Rayburn, like others, has made some mistakes down through the years but the biggest mistake he ever made was when he cast aside his own principles and own judgement, which had stood him in good stead for many years, and became nothing but yes-man for a candidate who received less than half the popular votes of the country when he ran for president.

For the sake of a few more years of power in the house of representatives, Speaker Rayburn not only has sold his birthright of doing his own individual thinking but has turned his back on the people of the south and on those of the whole nation. His attempt to scourge democracy is a pitiable thing.

proved. He wants to change defense department procurement so as to make it and adjunct of foreign policy planning.

Supporting the theory that people were created for the benefit of the state, Douglas would move workers about the country in accordance with a plan prepared by the federal government.

The senator wants the establishment of a federal fuels agency with the power to make decisions as to who should use what fuels and for what purpose.

These reports look to an America in which virtually every aspect of life—from the use of coal, oil and gas to an individual's education, recreation and housing—is directed by the federal government through a multiplicity of agencies.

About all Senator Douglas does not seek is federal ownership of means of production and he doubtless would eventually sponsor that. His plan is a blueprint for a Marxist economy in the United States.

The senator should go one step farther and be candid with the public, admitting what he wants is state socialism.

Certainly, the regimented America envisioned in these task forces is barely distinguishable from Russia.

Conservatives in this country should use every possible means to prevent the radical-socialists from gaining unbridled control of congress.

Kennedy Monroe Doctrine
Asserts United States Will Pay Any Price, Bear Any Burden
To Assure Survival Of Liberty

In his inaugural address, President Kennedy laid down his policy, Kennedy said:

"Let every nation know, whether it wish us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and success of liberty."

"This much we pledge — and more."

Then he restated the Monroe Doctrine in his own words:

"To our sister republics south of our border, we offer a special pledge — to convert our good words into good deeds—in a new alliance for progress — to assist free men and free governments in casting off the chains of poverty. But this peaceful revolution of hope cannot become the prey of hostile powers. Let all our neighbors know that we shall join with them to oppose aggression or subversion anywhere in the Americas. And let every other power know that this hemisphere intends to remain the master of its own house."

In many respects this statement is as strong, if not stronger than the original Monroe Doctrine. In fact, Kennedy issued a threat — clearly a threat—to those nations "who would make themselves our adversary."

"Finally, to those nations who would make themselves our adversary, we offer not a pledge but a request: that both sides begin anew the quest for peace, before the dark powers of destruction unleashed by science engulf all humanity in planned or accidental self-destruction."

"We dare not tempt them with weakness. For only when our arms are sufficient beyond doubt can we be certain beyond doubt that they will never be employed."

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Test Showing Normal Cholesterol Content Is No Guarantee

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Sometimes I wonder if it is wise for some people to have a blood cholesterol test. My husband is an example. Because his father and older brother died of coronary disease, our doctor suggested that he go in for a blood cholesterol examination. It was normal. Since then he has kicked up his heels.

He overeats (especially fats and fried foods). He also works too hard, drinks too much and puts away at least 1 1/2 packs of cigarettes a day.

"I'm different," he keeps saying. "My cholesterol proves that I haven't got a thing to worry about." Dr. Steincrohn, what can I do with such a stubborn man? —Mrs. O.

ANSWER: You might call this reply to his attention. Perhaps we can both knock some sense into his head.

Mr. O., I write this especially for you. Consider it an informal talk across a doctor's desk. Right off, I'll tell you that I consider your family history of coronary disease more important than your cholesterol readings. I am not saying that you are a sure candidate for a coronary attack because it "runs in your family." But I am saying that heredity is important.

Your wife tells me that you are living high off the hog simply because a blood cholesterol reading was normal. Therefore I want to warn you that a normal cholesterol is no guarantee against having a coronary attack. (And conversely, people with high blood cholesterol readings aren't necessarily sure candidates, either.)

Atherosclerosis — the forerunner of such attacks — can develop even when the blood is not overloaded with cholesterol.

Let me give you an interesting example I came across recently. Dr. Henry C. McGill and his associates reported a study of the arteries of 163 baboons. In many there was evidence of atherosclerosis (gradual closing off and damage to coats of arteries).

What do baboons live on mostly? On fruits, berries and grains. Hardly any cholesterol in their diet.

And how high was the blood cholesterol in these baboons? The average was 80 milligrams — which is quite low.

Yet, Mr. O., many had atherosclerosis! We are closer to baboons than you may realize. I hope this convinces you to slow down all around. Stop worrying your wife needlessly.

I am not downgrading the importance of cholesterol readings; but they should not be the only consideration in the management of potential coronary disease.

LOUD NOISES

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: You have written columns about a great many things — how about a column on how loud radio, TV, Hi-Fi and other canned music can affect a person?

The majority of people don't seem to mind but for some of us who don't like it, it really is terrible. Sometimes it makes me so nervous I want to just run and run until I get away from it all.

There is a time and place for things, but golly it seems now you run into loud radio, etc. in restaurants, supermarkets, at exhibits and other public places. —Miss W., Washington.

COMMENT: I assure you, it's no joke! You know how distressing it is to look towards the sun on a bright day without the protection of dark glasses. Sensitive eyes just can't take it. Loud noises have a similar effect on those of us with especially sensitive hearing.

I really have no solution, unfortunately. All I can suggest is to try to dull the impact on your ear drums by putting some cotton (or other ear gadgets) into your ears. For some people they act on excessive noise as dark glasses neutralize excessive light.

If you are really "in a state of nerves," your doctor will prescribe some sedative or tranquilizer to make your hearing less sensitive. We can't eliminate noise; therefore the only solution seems for us to take measures to adjust to it.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have four sons all of whom are interested in the summer swimming instruction classes at the public pools. My one big worry at this time is polio. My boys have had the complete series of Salk shots. —Mrs. T.

ANSWER: Ask your doctor about the need for booster doses. As for the swimming — let them go to it. The need for learning how to swim outweighs any remote possibility of polio infection.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: For about six months I have been having increasing pain in my right heel. Special shoes, foot baths, lotions — all seem to be useless. I have not bruised the heel but it feels that way. Any suggestions? —Mr. E.

ANSWER: Have you been to a bone specialist (orthopedist)? Have you had x-rays of the heel? Sometimes the cause of similar discomfort is a "spur" or bony overgrowth in the heel.

Surgery is sometimes the only cure. Don't go on suffering needlessly. Better find out what it's all about.

Minimum Wage

Kennedy Administration Not Expected
To Disappoint Labor

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara undoubtedly considers the question of whether the minimum wage should be raised from $1 to $1.25 an hour and coverage extended to millions of additional workers as something out of his province. He has quite enough to do to master and manage the Defense Establishment, he clearly recognizes.

Yet quite unconsciously on his part an action of Secretary McNamara has resulted in putting administration steam behind the minimum wage legislation and made an immediate effort for the federally dictated wage hikes certain.

Secretary McNamara, who asked and received from the then President — elect a promise of a free hand in the selection of his subordinates, used that promise to reject Joseph D. Keenan, an American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations official, as Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower.

The 64-year-old Keenan is secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Keenan had the powerful backing of George Meany, president of AFL-CIO for the Defense Department post. It is in the opinion of Meany, a post of more importance to labor than even the Secretary of Labor portfolio in the President's Cabinet.

Having disappointed organized labor leaders in not appointing one of their number to the important manpower post in the Department of Defense on which labor had set its heart the Kennedy Administration has no idea of disappointing these leaders on minimum wage legislation.

Representative Adam Clayton Powell of New York, new chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, has already started the machinery of his committee toward getting the legislation on the floor of the House. Dirksen insists that an increase to $1.25 per hour would be beyond the ability of many employers to absorb and would result in widespread unemployment.

Whether President Kennedy will limit himself to informing Congressional leaders of his desire for immediate minimum wage legislation or whether he will send a special message to Congress on the matter has not been determined. The belief, however, is that he will prod Congress by a special message.

Airport Workers Questioned In $100,000 Theft

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — FBI agents questioned airport workers and employees of Australia's national airline Friday about the disappearance of a cloth bag containing $100,000.

The money bag disappeared from a safe at the Qantas Empire Airways office at San Francisco International Airport after it had been flown from Hong Kong for delivery to the Crocker-Angelo Bank.

The agents said the money had been brought into the airport terminal Wednesday, but too late for delivery to the bank.

Sometime between midnight Wednesday and 1:00 a.m. Thursday, when an armored car came to collect the money the bag disappeared, the agents said.

They said there were no signs of force and the bag apparently had been taken during the night by someone who knew the combination, or after 8:30 a.m. when the safe was opened again.

Johnny Sellers, 22, led Chicago riders in 1960 with 30 wins at Balmoral, 44 at Arlington and 27 at Washington Park.

WHITE HOUSE TOURS

Kennedy Corrects 'Bloopers' By Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy had to read his newspaper Friday to make the surprising discovery that White House tours for congressional constituents had been banned.

A distressed Kennedy called in his aides and the situation was changed pretty quickly.

The incident was reported to newsmen by Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary who admitted with somewhat of a red face that the administration committed its first "blooper."

The incident was touched off when Rep. Robert R. Barry, R-N.Y., accused the President of depriving congressmen of a time-honored method of doing something extra to favored constituents.

In recent years, the White House has operated a more or less private tour each day, about an hour ahead of the public tour.

But Barry protested Thursday that he had been turned down when he requested the special tour for some of his friends.

Salinger said in explanation Thursday that the new administration had found that the private tours had become virtually as large as the public tours and therefore a new policy had been set. This was that members of

2 Out-Of-State Men Are Booked In Auto Theft

The Ouachita sheriff's department Friday booked two men in the theft of a 1961 model auto following investigation by deputies of the duo at Swartz.

Authorities said the two men admitted the theft and said they took the car from Great Bend, Kan., about two weeks ago.

They were identified as Donald H. Starnes, 33, who gave his address as Cimarron, Kan., and Richard Doyle Walton, 31, who gave his address as Byers, Okla.

Further investigation into the case was planned by the sheriff's office.

Molaison Rites Scheduled Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Ann Molaison, former Monroe resident who died in New Orleans Thursday, will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Matthews Catholic Church with Mgr. J. C. Marsh officiating.

Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery under direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home.

Alumni Board Meeting Set At Northeast

Board members of the Northeast State Alumni Association will meet today in business session from 10 to 12 noon in Stubbs Hall (Administration Building) 217.

The group will be luncheon guests of the college at the Rendezvous Restaurant, Mrs. Dell Lassiter, secretary and editor of alumni publications, announced.

Today's agenda calls for a discussion of methods of fund raising through the association, appointment of four representatives outside the 13-parish area, and a report of a meeting of the 4th District, American Alumni Council, at Fort Clark. The report will be supplemented with a color film giving a pictorial account of life at Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas, shown at the 4th District conference, which includes Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and Mexico.

A tour of the Northeast campus will follow the business meeting.

The alumni board, headed by Alumni President Roland Carter of West Monroe and Vice President Raymond Masling of Farmerville, comprise representatives from the following parishes: Mrs. Clarice Dickson Kenny, Caldwell; Mrs. Jo Ann Buswell Edwards, Catahoula; Mrs. Lorraine Quimby, Concordia; Mrs. Thelma Parsons Clement, East Carroll; Sonny Stevens, Franklin; Billy Busby, Jackson; Lloyd Ray Duke, LaSalle; Doyle Canterbury, Madison; Woodrow Wilson, Morehouse.

Marshall McDonald, Charles Traylor, Donald Thomas III, James W. Beaver, Johnie Parkerson and Sam Rubin Jr., Ouachita; Emmett Brown, Richland; Mrs. Weston Nettterville, Tensas; Dale Marchant, Union; Arlon Essie Adams, West Carroll; and Austin L. Abrams, Winn.

U.S. To Press Red China For Release Of Five

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Friday it would continue to press for release of five Americans imprisoned in Red China, one of them since 1961.

A spokesman said "you can be assured" their release would be taken up at the next meeting, Feb. 2, between U.S. Ambassador to Poland Jacob D. Beam and Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-Nan in Warsaw.

But officials said they knew of no dramatically new approach to be made to Red China on the subject. Beam has asked for release of the imprisoned Americans at virtually all of the 100-odd meetings he has had with Wang in the last several years. The Warsaw meetings are the only diplomatic contacts between the United States and Red China.

The last American to be imprisoned by China was Bishop James Edward Walsh, 66, of Cumberland, Md., who was sentenced to 30 years for "espionage" last March. The four others are two businessmen and two civilian employees of the U.S. Army.

Lions, Rams Advance In Rebel Tournament

West Monroe Faces Neville In Girls' Play

By JERRY HARKNESS
Staff Sports Writer

Bastrop and Ouchita advanced into the semi-finals of the West Monroe tournament last night in the boys' division while Neville and West Monroe moved into the finals in the girls' bracket.

Bastrop's Rams, with George Madison hitting 20 points, got hot in the fourth quarter and led the hopes of West Monroe by a 65-57 margin. Bastrop got double-figure efforts from three other players as Floyd Murry hit 15 points, Jeff Seligman 12 and Eugene Bats 10 to send the Rams into a semifinal spot opposite Neville.

The Rebels pulled to within one point of Bastrop on seven different occasions but never held a lead. Charles Dykes, who engineered a big West Monroe rally early in the third quarter, scored 22 points to lead all scorers. Oliver Schulz, with 12 points and Charles Taylor with 8 were second and third for the Rebs.

Nether team had trouble scoring as Bastrop pulled into a 19-10 first period lead and increased it to 36-30 at the half.

Dykes got a twisting layup, a jump shot and a free throw to cut Bastrop's lead to 36-35 with 6:29 left in the third quarter, but the Rams finished fast and held a 40-35 lead with one quarter left.

Bastrop scored eight straight points early in the fourth quarter on jump shots by Murray and Jeff Seligman, and the Rams got a 60-44 lead with only 3 minutes left. Woody Woodcock got four points for West Monroe and Jimmy Hudnell hit a jump shot for the Rebs as the buzzer sounded.

Ouchita took a 58-48 victory over a Calhoun team that waited until the last two minutes to start an offensive fire.

The Lions took a 4-0 lead on the cold Chieftans in the first quarter on buckets by Bruce Davidson and Carl Guinn. Calhoun couldn't break Scottie Sims open and trailed by 15-5 at the end of the first quarter.

Ouchita led by five and seven points throughout most of the second period and jumped into a 22-12 advantage on a jump shot by Tommy Beube with a minute left in the half. Weems got a field goal to cut the Lions' lead to 22-14 at intermission.

Sims continued to dominate the backboards for Calhoun but couldn't hit a field goal as the third quarter opened. Tommy Beube, Bob Massingill, Bruce Davidson and Carl Guinn picked off precious rebounds and teamed up to score 14 points to Calhoun's two in the first half of the final period. With Ouchita holding a 50-35 lead midway in the fourth quarter Calhoun came alive enough to chop it down to 56-46 on a late rally and Weems hit a drive for the Chieftans to close out the scoring in the last seconds.

Neville's girls earned a spot in the finals by dumping Ouchita, 40-29. Freshman Carolyn Courson was too much for the Lions to handle as she scored 25 points for the winners. Sandra Leavitt got 13 points for the losers and teammate Janet Glynn added 10.

West Monroe's girls did what they were supposed to do in winning their first game of the tournament over Sterlington. The local girls drew a bye over Bastrop in first round action and now stand favored to win their own title against Neville in the finals. Sterlington fell, 36-19 to West Monroe with Faye Wainwright scoring 16 points and Nancy Smith getting 13 for the winners. C. Fuller hit 6 points and E. Bates 5 in a losing cause for Sterlington.

West Monroe had earlier plastered Southside by a 60-30 score in the boys' bracket and Ouchita downed Winnboro, 57-38 in an opening game.

The Rebels pulled out ahead by 23-1 after the first quarter of their game with the Pels and played subs the rest of the game. Charles Dykes, with 12 points, Darrell Griggs, with 11, and Woody Woodcock, with 8 led the Rebs. Dale Perkins scored 13 points for Southside.

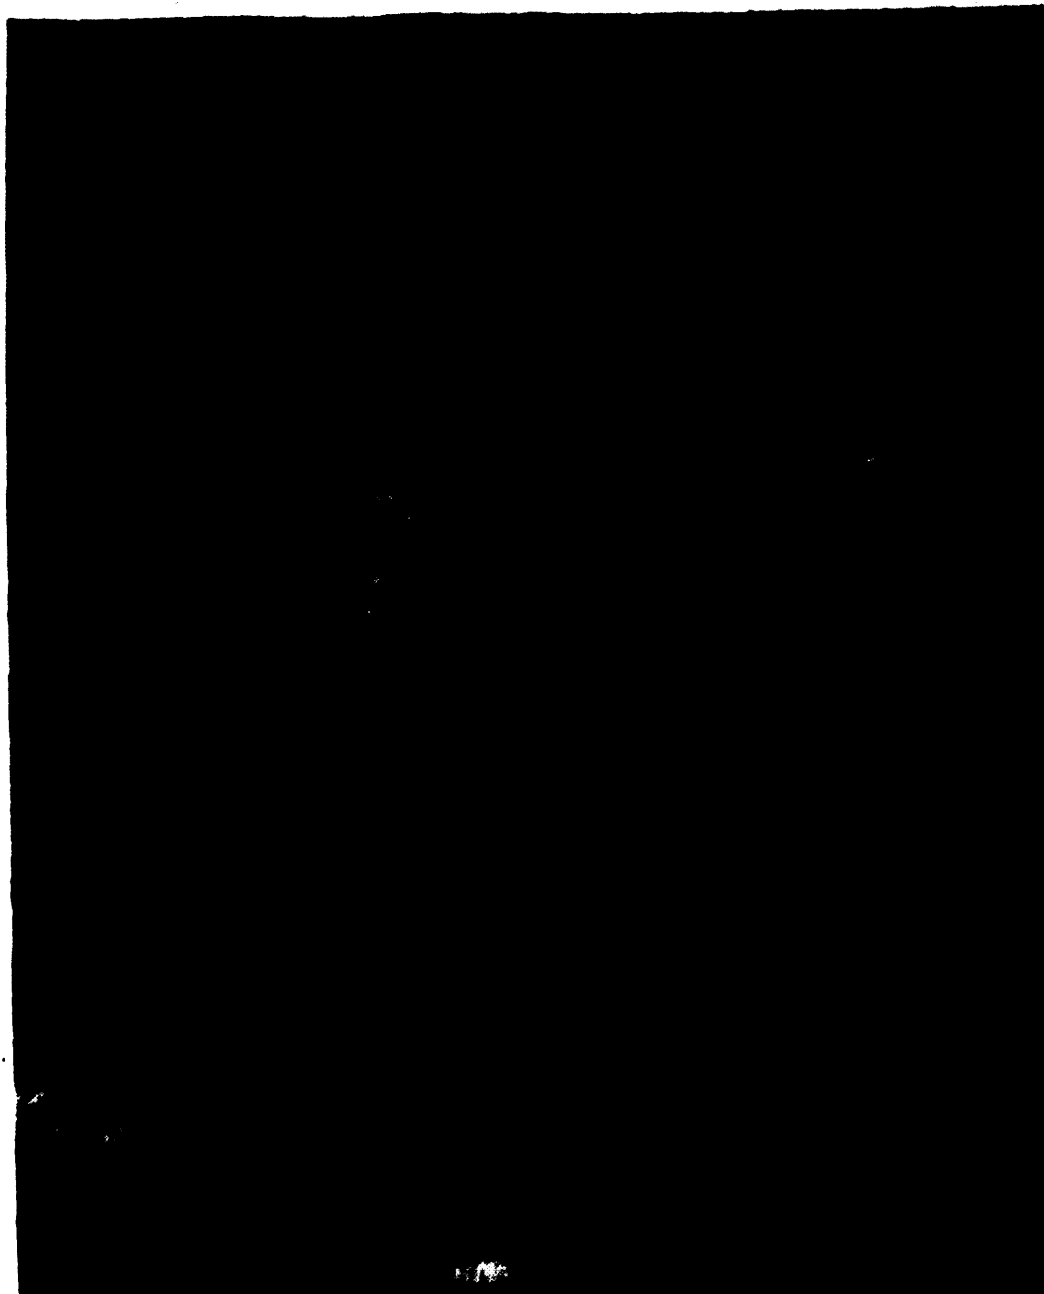

Carl Guinn and Tommy Beube hit 20 and 21 points respectively in Ouchita's win. The Lions led the entire game over Winnboro. Jerry Smith scored 22 points for the losers and Nicklas got 12.

Action picks up today at 12 noon, with Neville's Tigers meeting Bastrop in one of the boys' semifinal games and continues at 1:15 with Ouchita and St. Matthew's meeting in the other semifinal game. At 3:30 Sterlington and Ouchita play the girls' consolation tilt, and at 6 p.m. the boys play their consolation.

West Monroe and Neville meet in the girls' finals at 7:15 and the boys' finals are set for 8:30.

Urge New NFL Television Policy

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite a still booming box office business, the National Football League must adopt a new television policy to survive, Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Friday.

"The clubs won't survive without television the way our costs have gone up," said Rozelle. "The costs have more than doubled in the last decade."

Rozelle said the league wants to adopt a single package deal over one network the way the rival American Football League operated in its first season last fall, and the way the NCAA and the National Basketball Association operate.

The young commissioner and the club owners wrestled with the thorny problem of television in a day and night session at a mid-town hotel.

There are many complications, some of which are legal, in the setting up of a single package deal immediately, Rozelle said, adding it probably would be weeks before the issue was settled by the owners.

The NFL wanted to start work on a single network, single package deal last season but it was understood the league was advised by the Department of Justice last spring that it wouldn't be permitted to do so.

The AFL, however, went ahead and sold its entire TV schedule to the American Broadcasting Co. with each club sharing equally in the receipts.

"We pioneered in television with our own policy of blacking out areas where league games were being played and in televising road games," said Rozelle. "Now we must change. We want something similar to the NCAA, pro basketball and the other league."

Rozelle explained some of the problems that prevented the league from making a quick, clean-cut decision on a single package, which would be open to the highest bidder.

He said eight of the clubs still are committed to the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) for 1961 and with two one-year options. This commits them to CBS possibly through 1963. Two other clubs (Pittsburgh and Baltimore) made their own deals with the National Broadcasting Co. (NBC) last year.

"Over-all our ratings are high but there has been dilution in some of the ratings because of the spread of a number of games over several stations in some cities," Rozelle said.

In addition, he added, there was the fear that some of the weaker clubs would lose their TV revenue.

Another important complication to a single package deal, he explained, might be the loss of the publicity and box office value of televising road games home. For example, when the New York Giants played in Cleveland, the game was telecast back to New York. This not only brought in TV money but also helped boost the gate for coming home games at Yankee Stadium.

"We don't want to change that," said the commissioner.

Rozelle said, however, the NFL's championship game now was open to the highest bidder and he expected it to produce much higher revenue.

"The contract with NBC, which brought in $200,000 has ended," he said. "We expect it will bring in much higher revenue. A big slice of it will go for the players' pension fund."

In addition to TV, the owners discussed minor rule changes, amendments to the constitution, schedules and where to put Dallas and the new Minnesota club.

Rozelle said there would be another meeting Saturday morning and a windup of the league meetings by noon. But he said the TV matter, schedule and Dallas-Minnesota problems probably won't be straightened out for a while.

He said owners are debating whether to make both Dallas and the Minnesota Vikings "swing clubs," where they would play each team in the league once, or to put one club in the Eastern Conference and one in the West.

The Eastern clubs have the choice of picking either club and right now it looks like Dallas will be in the East.

Rozelle said the scheduling problem is difficult because nine of the 14 clubs are tenants of baseball clubs.

Another obstacle arose this week when Washington President George Preston Marshall said the Redskins won't be able to use their new park until Oct. 15. They had expected to open play there Oct. 1.

Vikings Release Last Draft Names

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League Friday announced the names of the final six players they acquired from other league teams for their first season of operation next fall.

The Vikings obtained from the Pittsburgh Steelers halfbacks Tom Bernatt and Jack Morris and offensive tackle Byron Beams. From the Chicago Bears they purchased defensive tackle Bill Bishop, fullback Glenn Shaw, and defensive halfback Charley Sumner.

Thus did the Vikings round out the group of 36 experienced players they picked from the other NFL clubs except Dallas and pro football generally agreed that the Vikings did fairly well.

Enterprise, Island Cage Teams Climb

ENTERPRISE, La. (Special) — Sicily Island and Enterprise advanced both boys and girls teams to the semi-finals of the Enterprise Invitational Basketball Tournament last night. They were joined by the Oden and Harrisonburg girls and the Block boys of Jonesville.

In boys' games yesterday Sicily Island, led by Patton's 13 points, beat Central of Larto, 50-41; Block shelled Columbia, 77-61; as Pierce led the way with 17 points; and Enterprise toppled Monterey, 53-50, in a game that saw David Ainsworth, Enterprise, and Wilson, Monterey, each bag 26 points. Harrisonburg's boys had a bye into the semi-finals today.

High scorers in losing causes in the boys' division were Gordon, Central, 12; and Vestal, Columbia, 18.

Yesterday's girls' contests saw Sicily Island beat Monterey, 30-26; Harrisonburg eliminate Columbia, 46 - 15; Ogden plaster Block, 54-34; and Enterprise side-track Central, 50-18.

Leading scorers in girls' games were Halton, Ogden, 24; Moreland, Monterey, 20; Butts, Block, and Randall, Harrisonburg, 17 each; McVay, Enterprise, and Shelton, Sicily Island, 14 each; Nobles, Columbia, 8; and Wiley, Central, 5.

Today's pairings: Girls — Ogden vs. Enterprise, 10 a.m.; Sicily Island vs. Harrisonburg, 11:15; consolation, 4:15 p.m.; final, 7 p.m.

Boys — Block vs. Enterprise, 12:30 p.m.; Sicily Island vs. Harrisonburg, 1:45; consolation, 5:30; final, 8:15.

The identity of the San Francisco Forty Niners and Los Angeles Rams players picked "leaked out" around Thursday midnight.

Hugh McElhenry, once one of the NFL's outstanding running halfbacks, was one of the San Francisco players picked. The others were linebacker Clancy Osborne and center Karl Rubke.

The Los Angeles selectors were linebacker Jerry Stalcup, defensive back Don Ellerick and offensive guard Charles Janerette.

"I was surprised at some of the good names they picked," said league commissioner Pete Rozelle. "The Vikings did a fine job of selecting."

Among the other players acquired by the new ball club were defensive end Don Joyce of Baltimore, a 10-year pro standout; offensive end Dave Middleton of the Detroit Lions; and offensive guard Red Stephens of the Washington Redskins.

With the matter of stocking the Vikings out of the way, the league club owners devoted their sessions Friday to more or less routine business.

They spent a great deal of their time "discussing television." It was believed the owners were discussing the merits of selling NFL television rights as a package, rather than having each club handle the sale of its own rights.

Knicks Dump Warriors By 130-119 Score

NEW YORK (AP) — Richie Guerin scored 42 points and led the New York Knickerbockers to a surprise 130-119 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors in a National Basketball Association game Friday night before 6,120 at Madison Square Garden.

Will Chamberlain, the Warriors' star, scored 24 points, one above his average for the past three games, as Philadelphia dropped its fourth in a row. The Warriors now trail the Boston Celtics by 5½ games in the Eastern Division race.

Wilt, averaging 37.8 for the season, played with a sprained finger on his right hand.

There were 13 ties in the game before the Knicks edged ahead in the see-saw battle and then got a 13-point fourth quarter from Guerin to break it open. The Knicks led at every quarter, 31-26, 61-58 and 89-85.

Phil Jordan, recently acquired from the Cincinnati Royals, led the Knicks' rebounding as New York beat the Warriors, 77-64, off the boards. Jordan had 18 rebounds.

Paul Arizin led Philadelphia's scorers with 29 points.

West Monroe Faces Neville In Girls' Play

By JERRY HARKNESS
Staff Sports Writer

Bastrop and Ouachita advanced into the semi-finals of the West Monroe tournament last night in the boys' division while Neville and West Monroe moved into the finals in the girls' bracket.

Bastrop's Rams, with George Madison hitting 20 points, got hot in the fourth quarter to end the hopes of host West Monroe by a 66-57 margin. Bastrop got double-figure efforts from three other players as Floyd Murry hit 15 points, Jeff Seligman 12 and Eugene Bats 10 to send the Rams into a semifinal spot opposite Neville.

The Rebels pulled to within one point of Bastrop on seven different occasions but never held a lead. Charles Dykes, who engineered a big West Monroe rally early in the third quarter, scored 22 points to lead all scorers. Oliver Schulz, with 12 points and Charles Taylor with 8 were second and third for the Rebs.

Nether team had trouble scoring as Bastrop pulled into a 19-16 first period lead and increased it to 36-30 at the half.

Dykes got a twisting layup, a jump shot and a free throw to cut Bastrop's lead to 36-35 with 6:29 left in the third quarter, but the Rams finished fast and held a 49-43 lead with one quarter left.

Bastrop scored eight straight points early in the fourth quarter on jump shots by Murray and Jeff Seligman, and the Rams got a 60-46 lead with only 2 minutes left. Woody Woodcock hit four points for West Monroe and Jimmy Hudnell hit a jump shot for the Rebs as the buzzer sounded.

Ouachita took a 58-48 victory over a Calhoun team that waited until the last two minutes to start an offensive fire.

The Lions took a 4-0 lead on the cold Chieftans in the first quarter on buckets by Bruce Davidson and Carl Guinn. Calhoun couldn't break Scottie Sims open and trailed by 13-5 at the end of the first quarter.

Ouachita led by five and seven points throughout most of the second period and jumped into a 22-12 advantage on a jump shot by Tommy Beaubie with a minute left in the half. Weems got a field goal to cut the Lions' lead to 22-14 at intermission.

Sims continued to dominate the backboards for Calhoun but couldn't hit a field goal as the third quarter opened. Tommy Beaubie, Bob Massingill, Bruce Davidson and Carl Guinn picked off precious rebounds and teamed up to score 14 points to Calhoun's two in the first half of the final period. With Ouachita holding a 50-35 lead midway in the fourth quarter Calhoun came alive enough to chop it down to 56-46 on a late rally and Weems hit a drive for the Chieftans to close out the scoring in the last seconds.

Neville's girls earned a spot in the finals by dumping Ouachita, 40-29. Freshman Carolyn Courson was too much for the Lions to handle as she scored 25 points for the winners. Sandra Leavitt got 13 points for the losers and teammate Janet Glynn added 10.

West Monroe's girls did what they were supposed to do in winning their first game of the tournament over Sterlington. The local girls drew a bye over Bastrop in first round action and now stand favored to win their own title against Neville in the finals. Sterlington fell, 36-19 to West Monroe with Faye Wainwright scoring 18 points and Nancy Smith getting 13 for the winners. C. Fuller hit 6 points and E. Bates 5 in a losing cause for Sterlington.

West Monroe had earlier plastered Southside by a 68-29 score in the boys' bracket and Ouachita downed Winnboro, 67-58 in an opening game.

The Rebels pulled out ahead by 22-1 after the first quarter of their game with the Pels and played subs the rest of the game. Charles Dykes, with 12 points, Darrell Griggs, with 11 and Woody Woodcock, with 8 led the Rebels. Dale Perkins scored 12 points for Southside.

Carl Guinn and Tommy Beaubie hit 29 and 21 points respectively in Ouachita's win. The Lions led the entire game over Winnboro. Jerry Smith scored 22 points for the losers and Nicklas got 12.

Action picks up today at 12 noon, with Neville's Tigers meeting Bastrop in one of the boys' semifinal games and continues at 1:15 with meeting in the other semifinal game. At 2:30 Sterlington and Ouachita play the girls' consolation tilt, and at 6 p.m. the boys play their consolation.

West Monroe and Neville meet in the girls' finals at 7:15 and the boys' finals are set for 8:30.

Central Baptist shaded Southside Methodist, 38-35, and College Place Baptist beat St. Joseph, 47-41, in Church "A" League contests last night. High scorers were Nolan, College Place, 20; Hendrix, Central, 19; Hardy, St. Joseph, 15; Abbott and Taliaferro, Southside, 10 each.

Louisiana Training Institute used a default from ABC Finance to remain in the thick of the race for the leadership of the City League.

Church "B" League games last night saw Trinity Baptist plaster Southside Baptist, 66-32; First Baptist edge New Chapel Hill, 34-30; and Temple Baptist squeeze by Fellowship, 35-33. Team scoring leaders were Grady Jones, Fellowship, 18; Reeves, First Baptist, 15; Furlow, Trinity, 14; and Bonds, Southside, Griggs, New Chapel Hill, and Haley, Temple, 13 each.

Results in the Lee Girls League were Scouts 14, Eagles 4; Panthers 12, Indians 6; Pirates 7, Lions 4; Bearcats 13, Pelicans 11; and Spunkies 6, Tigers 5. Leading the scoring for their teams were Burgess, Panthers, 10; Brice, Pelicans, 8; Hall, Pirates, 7; White, Scouts, 6; Parrish, Bearcats, 5; Spargo, Spunkies, 4; Hallmark, mark, Tigers, and LaGrange and Bird, Indians, 3 each; and Daniels and Suddith, Eagles, and Mabray and Montrozoa, Lions, 2 each.

Southern has been able to make only token gestures in eight straight losses to Grambling, but Coach Richard Mack expects to cause some trouble Saturday.

Conceivably the contest holds the answer to Jaguar fortunes for the entire campaign.

Another defeat by their North Louisiana cousins will automatically doom them to an undistinguished season.

Coach Fred Hobdy fears his three-year reign is in serious jeopardy.

Grambling doesn't enjoy the accustomed height edge and Southern can match Hogdy's race - horse attack with a slick offense of its own.

Hobdy pointed out that the new Jaguar Mentor has honed the visitors into a solid contender in half a season. "They have started to gain momentum and should close with a flourish," he said.

Grambling appears ready for the challenge. All-Americans Rex Tippitt and Charles Hardnett, and sophomore Hershell West will provide sorely needed boardwork and most of the shooting for the likely - split Tigers.

Louis Bond, a slick back-court mainstay, is Southern's top gun.

Star Laid Up With Hurt Jaw

CHICAGO (AP)—Winger Kenny Wharram of the Chicago Black Hawks Friday entered a hospital for treatment of a fractured jaw suffered in Thursday night's 2-2 tie with the Red Wings in Detroit.

Just a year ago, Wharram also had his jaw broken in a National Hockey League game.

The latest injury was sustained in a collision with Detroit's Howie Young. It was expected Wharram will miss at least two games—Hawks Friday entered a hospital for treatment of a fractured jaw suffered in Thursday night's 2-2 tie.

Grambling Set For Cage Tilt With Jaguars

GRAMBLING, La. (Special) — Fourteen days of enforced idleness for semester examinations will end for the Grambling college basketball team here Saturday night when they wage their annual dog - fight with Southern University. Weather permitting, a sell-out crowd of 5,000 will watch the state rivals battle in a contest that is often fraught with frustrations for both squads.

The Jaguars will floor one of the most respected assemblies in the Southwestern Conference and it is no secret that they hope to put an end to Grambling's monopoly of the eight - team loop.

The Tigers won titles in '59 and '60.

Southern has been able to make only token gestures in eight straight losses to Grambling, but Coach Richard Mack expects to cause some trouble Saturday.

Tennessee State, with 17 consecutive basketball victories, still ruled the roost among the nation's small college teams Friday according to the latest weekly Associated Press poll.

The Nashville, Tenn., team, which dropped its opening game, has been all-victorious since, accumulating 75 points from the special panel, which also gave it six first place votes.

Hofstra of Hempstead, N.Y., in second with 64 and undefeated Prairie View (16-0) is third with 60. Hofstra is 12-2.

The remaining seven teams are well scattered, with Westminster (Pa.), in eighth spot, and Maine (12-1), now No. 10, as newcomers to the select ten. Westminster (11-2) has 19 points and Maine 15.

Some of the other leaders were scrambled a bit from last week's poll. American U. (9-4) moved from tenth to seventh while Prairie View moved from fifth to third, changing places with Mississippi Southern (13-1). Kentucky Wesleyan (9-6) dropped from seventh to ninth. Southwest Texas and Evansville dropped from the top ten.

Other top ten teams included Southern Illinois (No. 4) and Grambling (No. 6).

The leaders, with first place votes and points, are as follows:

| Rank | Team                        | Points | First Place Votes |
|------|-----------------------------|--------|-------------------|

Rory Calhoun To Face Cuban In T. V. Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Florentino Fernandez of Cuba and Rory Calhoun of New York, a couple of hard-hitting middleweights, clash Saturday night in the 10-round television fight at Madison Square Garden.

The 34-year-old Cuban, a recent graduate to the 160-pound ranks, is a favorite. They start swinging at 10 p.m., EST (ABC-TV).

A powerful left-hander, Fernandez made a fancy debut in the middleweight ranks last Nov. 12 in the Garden when he knocked out Phil Meyer in the fifth round. The thick-necked, wide-shouldered Latin American has flattened 22 of his opponents in building up a 28-2 record.

Calhoun, once a high-ranking contender, served notice he is ready to move up again when he whipped fourth-ranked Hank Casey of San Francisco at New Orleans at New Year's Day.

The muscular, 26-year-old New Yorker also features a left hook as his main weapon. Both lost of their hooks with all of their weight behind the blows. Hit or miss, they put on a good show. Calhoun has a 43-10-3 record, including 21 knockouts.

This battle of punchers doesn't figure to go the limit. But if it does, the scoring will be by the rounds system.

Rademacher Vs. Harris
ATLANTA (AP) — Boner Pete Rademacher of Columbus, Ga., said Friday he has signed to meet Roy Harris of Cut 'a Shoot, Tex., March 8 in Seattle.

Arnold Palmer added a 68 to his opening 66 as did Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., Ted Kroll of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Stan Leonard, the veteran Canadian in this international field.

Don January of Dallas and Mike Souchak of Greening, N.Y., each had 6 after opening at 68.

Wes Ellis, the Texan playing out of West Caldwell, N.J., shot the lowest round of the day, a 65. That left him in a trio at 126 with Ernie Vossler of Oklahoma City, who had a 68, and Young Al Geiberger of Santa Barbara, who blazed a 68.

A crowd of 5700 watched. Many followed Bayer. The big guy collected his first birdie at the fifth hole and another at the seventh, both with 8-foot putts. He tapped in a 1-foot birdie on the following hole. He ran into trouble when he hit a bad second shot on the first hole of his second nine and carded his first bogey. He got another when he was trapped on the 13th.

The relatively flat course, a 6,473-yard layout with a par 36-65, plays well for the long hitting Bayer.

"I actually played much better today than yesterday and didn't need so many long putts," he said.

Following Friday's round, the field of 130 was cut to the low 90. It took a score of 145 or better for a pro to stay in.

San Francisco star quarterback John Brodie, one stroke off the pace with a 68 in his first round, was thrown for a loss by a 75 Friday.

Moore Stops Spanish Hope In 4th Round

MADRID (AP)—World featherweight champion Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, stopped Fred Galiana, the Spanish lightweight champ, in the fourth round of a non-title 10-round Friday night.

Some 25,000 fans at the Sports Pavilion watched the bout, which ended after 30 seconds of the fourth.

Moore dropped Galiana for the count of seven in the third round. The Spaniard was saved by the bell.

When the fourth round began Galiana was still groggy. Moore piled into the attack with a vicious two-handed attack and in the 30 seconds this round lasted the world champ planted more than 20 blows on the body and face of Galiana, and the referee stopped the bout.

The fight was at 130 pounds just over the featherweight limit of 128.

Later it was announced that Galiana's purse was withheld because of his showing.

Moore got $7,000, the biggest purse in Spanish boxing history. Galiana expected to get $2,000, his highest fee in Spain.

Cleaver Site
CLEVELAND (AP)—The 39th annual international convention of the Amateur Softball Association Friday selected Clearwater, Fla., as the site of the 1961 men's world tournament.

The tournament will be held Sept. 15-22. Clearwater is the defending champion, having won the title last year at Jones Beach, N.Y.

Portland, Ore., was selected for the women's tournament, which will be held Aug. 25-Sept. 2.

Grandall Ready
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves catcher and team captain Del Grandall, signed his 1961 contract Friday after a brief conference with General Manager John McHale.

The 30-year-old receiver was named the club's most valuable player for last season when he batted .304, hit 19 home runs and had 77 runs batted in.

He was the 14th of the Braves to sign new contracts after left-handed pitcher George Brunet agreed to terms earlier.

IN BATON ROUGE

Must Game Set For LSU-Tulane

BATON ROUGE, La. (Special) — Something's gotta give when Louisiana State's stubborn defense encounters Tulane's high-scoring offense here Saturday night in an important Southeastern Conference basketball game.

Starting time is set for 7:45 p.m. in LSU's John M. Parker Agricultural Center.

The Tigers of coach Jay McCreary will throw their "scrambling" zone defenses at Tulane's free - scoring attack in what could be the most exciting hardwood battle between these arch - rivals in many years.

A win is vital to both teams, currently deadlocked in SEC standings with identical records of two wins and two losses. Tulane has a 7-4 record for the season, and LSU stands at 7-8 after beating Loyola 51-49 Wednesday night with a last half burst.

The significance of a victory in Saturday night's contest goes beyond conference standings and the usual rivalry between the Tigers and the Greenies.

An LSU decision would give a considerable boost to the hustling

LSU hasn't beaten Tulane since McCreary's first season in Tigerland (1957-58) when the Bayou Bengals swept the two game series. Tulane has won the last four games, and holds a 6-3 margin in the series since 1954.

The outcome will probably hinge on LSU's ability to stymie the Green Wave offense, and the result of a rebounding duel that is sure to develop between Tulane's 6-9 center Jack Ardon and Tom Conklin, the 6-10 Tiger pivotman.

LSU's limited scoring has come principally from guards George Nattin, averaging 16.5 and Ellis Cooper, averaging 14.4. This back court pair, Conklin at center, and forwards Stan Jacobs and Maury Drummond comprise LSU's starting lineup.

Ready reserves for the Tigers are sophomore forwards John Bailey and Ray Arthur, whose timely baskets helped LSU overtime Loyola Wednesday night.

Both teams lost road games to Florida and Georgia before returning home to upset Kentucky and Tennessee. LSU beat Kentucky 73-50 and Tennessee 62-50, and nosed out Kentucky 72-70.

A preliminary game between the Baby Bengals and Tulane's freshmen team gets underway at 5:45 p.m.

Entries should be made to the YMCA by 5 p.m. Monday, January 30. The volleyball league will begin on that date, and the basketball loop is set to get underway on Saturday, February 4.

Age group for the volleyball league is 18 and up, with two age brackets set in the cage league, 18-24 and 25-up.

CHANCE FOR REVENGE

Thomas Gets High Jump Shot At Russian Stars

BOSTON (AP) — John Thomas warms up for his "Revenge on the Russians" campaign Saturday night at the 72nd Boston A. A. track meet, but chances are the feature events will be the dash and 600-yard run.

Disappointed that the Russian high jumpers who beat him in the Olympics won't be here in time, Thomas nevertheless has been in top form this week, twice leaping 7 feet, 2 inches.

World and Olympic broad jump record holder Ralph Boston, Tennessee State, is the decathlon-bound youth who will give Thomas whatever competition he has.

The once-glamorous mile run takes a back seat to the fields in the 80-yard dash and 600-yard trophy matches.

Nolan, Fettinger Fire Neville Win

Truett Nolan and Mike Fettinger made life miserable under the Haynesville nets last night as they fired the Neville offense that carried the Tigers to a 71-30 double-A league victory over the Golden Tornado.

Nolan poured 17 points through the baskets with Fettinger's support accounting for 15 more, almost enough between them to accomplish the job.

Coach George Davis used eleven players in notching the Tigers' first 2-AA victory of the season against a lone loss, and his first ten players figured in the scoring.

Haynesville's Johnson shared game scoring honors with Nolan, matching the Neville star's 17.

The Tigers stormed into a 20-10 lead at the quarter and enjoyed a 25-18 edge at the half. Neville was in front 57-23 after three quarters.

Neville also won the "B" game in which Ray Futch and Gary Baker shared scoring honors with 16 points each. Benefield was high scorer for Haynesville's "B" with 12.

SEVEN TIE FOR SECOND

Bayer Builds 4-Stroke Lead At Midway Point In 'Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Bayer powered his drives and putted precisely Friday for a 5-under-par 65 and a four-stroke lead at the midway point in the $57,000 San Francisco International Open with a 35-hole score of 131.

The 240-pound former Washington football tackle birdied his final three holes at the Harding Park Municipal Course.

Grambling 6th In AP's Small College Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tennessee State, with 17 consecutive basketball victories, still ruled the roost among the nation's small college teams Friday according to the latest weekly Associated Press poll.

The Nashville, Tenn., team, which dropped its opening game and has been all-victorious since, accumulated 75 points from the special panel, which also gave it six first place votes.

Hofstra of Hempstead, N.Y., in second with 64 and undefeated Prairie View (16-0) is third with 60. Hofstra is 12-2.

The remaining seven teams are well scattered, with Westminster (Pa.), in eighth spot, and Maine (12-1), now No. 10, as newcomers to the select ten. Westminster (11-2) has 19 points and Maine 15.

Some of the other leaders were scrambled a bit from last week's poll. American U. (9-4) moved from tenth to seventh while Prairie View moved from fifth to third, changing places with Mississippi Southern (13-1). Kentucky Wesleyan (9-6) dropped from seventh to ninth. Southwest Texas and Evansville dropped from the top ten.

Other top ten teams included Southern Illinois (No. 4) and Grambling (No. 6).

The leaders, with first place votes and won-lost records in parenthesis (points determined on a 100-point basis):

1. Tennessee State (6) (16-1) 75
2. Hofstra (12) (12-2) 64
3. Prairie View (16-0) 60
4. Southern Illinois (13-1) 52
5. Mississippi Southern (13-1) 51
6. Grambling (13-3) 49
7. American U. (9-4) 48
8. Westminster (Pa.) (11-2) 47
9. Kentucky Wesleyan (9-6) 46
10. Maine (12-1) 45

Moore Stops Spanish Hope In 4th Round

MADRID (AP)—World featherweight champion Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, stopped Fred Galiana, the Spanish lightweight champ, in the fourth round of a non-title 10-rounder Friday night.

Some 25,000 fans at the Sports Pavilion watched the bout, which ended after 30 seconds of the fourth.

Moore dropped Galiana for the count of seven in the third round. The Spaniard was saved by the bell.

When the fourth round began Galiana was still groggy. Moore piled into the attack with a vicious two-handed attack and in the 30 seconds this round lasted the world champ planted more than 20 blows on the body and face of Galiana, and the referee stopped the bout.

The girth was at 130 pounds just over the featherweight limit of 128.

The crowd went home disappointed and disillusioned because of the poor performance of Galiana.

Later it was announced that Galiana's purse was withheld because of his showing.

Moore got $7,000, the biggest purse in Spanish boxing history. Galiana expected to get $2,000, clip, having won 22 games and lost only nine.

From all available records, dating back a half century, this is the best three-year record in the Pineville school's colorful football history.

The recent upsurge in Pineville football fortunes began with Mentor Knight's arrival on the Louisiana College campus in 1958 as backfield coach under then athletic director J. W. Patrick.

Expert observers, including then head coach Patrick himself, attributed a great deal of the 1958 success to young Mr. Knight's handling of the Wildcat backfield. Upon Patrick's departure in the spring of 1959 Knight was selected to fill the vacancy.

Despite lack of experience with the loss of nearly a score of lettermen from the '58 powerhouse, Knight's first 'Cat eleven, that of 1959, won five of its first seven starts.

The recently completed 1960 grid campaign saw the revived L. C. gridders reach their peak under Coach Knight.

Crandall Ready

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves catcher and team captain Del Crandall, signed his 1961 contract Friday after a brief conference with General Manager John McHale.

The 30-year-old receiver was named the club's most valuable player for last season when he batted .294, hit 19 home runs and had 77 runs batted in.

He was the 14th of the Braves to sign new contracts after left-handed pitcher George Brunet agreed to terms earlier.

IN BATON ROUGE

Must Game Set For LSU-Tulane

BATON ROUGE, La. (Special) —Something's gotta give when Louisiana State's stubborn defense encounters Tulane's high-scoring offense here Saturday night in an important Southeastern Conference basketball game. Starting time is set for 7:45 p.m. in LSU's John M. Parker Agricultural Center.

The Tigers of coach Jay McCreary will throw their "scrambling" zone defenses at Tulane's free - scoring attack in what could be the most exciting hardwood battle between these arch - rivals in many years.

A win is vital to both teams, currently deadlocked in SEC standings with identical records of two wins and two losses. Tulane has a 7-6 record for the season, and LSU stands at 7-8 after beating Loyola 51-49 Wednesday night with a last half burst.

The significance of a victory in Saturday night's contest goes beyond conference standings and the usual rivalry between the Tigers and the Greenies.

An LSU decision would give a considerable boost to the hustling

Dates Set For Start Of YMCA Sports Program

The Monroe YMCA has announced the dates for the start of its volleyball and basketball league seasons.

Both leagues will be round-robin, with the championships being played at the end of the regular season action.

Entries should be made to the YMCA by 5 p.m. Monday, January 30. The volleyball league will begin on that date, and the basketball loop is set to get underway on Saturday, February 4.

Age group for the volleyball league is 18 and up, with two age brackets set in the cage league, 18-24 and 25-up.

The YMCA is expecting entries from civic clubs and other interested groups.

CHANCE FOR REVENGE

Thomas Gets High Jump Shot At Russian Stars

BOSTON (AP) — John Thomas warms up for his "Revenge on the Russians" campaign Saturday night at the 72nd Boston A. A. track meet, but chances are the feature events will be the dash and 600-yard run.

Disappointed that the Russian high jumpers who beat him in the Olympics won't be here in time, Thomas nevertheless has been in top form this week, twice leaping 7 feet, 2 inches.

World and Olympic broad jump record holder Ralph Boston, Tennessee State, is the decathlon-bound youth who will give Thomas whatever competition he has.

The once-glamorous mile run takes a back seat to the fields in the 50-yard dash and 600-yard trophy matches.

Villanova Olympian Frank Budd, who bettered the Boston

Garden record with a :05.2 trial clocking en route to the K. of C. triumph two weeks ago, heads the dash field.

Kansas' Charlie Tidwell makes his Eastern indoor debut. He is the undefeated sprinter who suffered a muscle pull in the semi-final heat of the Olympic final tryouts. He is the 100 and 200-meter NCAA champion and co-holder of the indoor 60-yard mark.

The third frontline entry is Paul Winder, two-time K. of C. king two weeks ago, gets his challenge here.

Joe Mullins, who won the 600 from Cliff Cushman of Kansas and Jerry Siebert of California, both making their Eastern debuts. Cushman was runner-up in the Olympic 400-meter hurdles, while Siebert is an Olympian and a Pacific Coast half mile titlist.

Jim Wedderburn, New York University, has replaced Yale's Jim Stack, withdrawn because of examinations, as the fourth man in a rugged field.

His delayed arrival in New York, makes it uncertain whether Hungary's Istvan Rozsavolgyi will join Deacon Jones in the mile along with John Koppl, New York A.C.; Robert Vinton, Georgetown; Larry Sweet, Alfred; Joe Francello, Syracuse and Dan Rearick, Maine.

Thomas goes after his 54th jump of 7 feet or higher. He holds the world outdoor mark of 7-3 1/2 and the indoor record of 7-2 1/2.

"For the first time since the Olympics I pushed John this week," explained Coach John Flanagan. "He was great. He looked better than he did a year ago at this time."

HAYNESVILLE FALLS, 71-39

Nolan, Fettingner Fire Neville Win

Truett Nolan and Mike Fettingner made life miserable under the Haynesville nets last night as they fired the Neville offense that carried the Tigers to a 71-39 double-A league victory over the Golden Tornado.

Nolan poured 17 points through the baskets with Fettingner's support accounting for 15 more, almost enough between them to accomplish the job.

Coach George Davis used eleven players in notching the Tigers' first 2-AA victory of the season against a lone loss, and his first ten players figured in the scoring.

Haynesville's Johnson shared game scoring honors with Nolan, matching the Neville star's 17.

The Tigers stormed into a 20-10 lead at the quarter and enjoyed a 35-18 edge at the half. Neville was in front 57-23 after three quarters.

Neville also won the "B" game in which Ray Futch and Gary Baker shared scoring honors with 16 points each. Benefield was high scorer for Haynesville's "B" with 12.

Bradley Braves Face Marquette In TV Cage Tilt

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Bradley's third-ranked Braves, entering a critical six-day test, show their basketball ability on national TV Saturday against formidable Marquette.

The contest will be on ABC-TV beginning at 2 p.m., EST. Bradley (13-) is coming off a two-week respite for exams.

Despite a 9-5 record, Marquette's Warriors loom capable of upsetting Bradley, just as they did powerful Detroit (8-63).

Bradley's national prestige and Missouri Valley Conference title chances may be jeopardized within the next six days. After Marquette, the Braves are at revived Cincinnati Tuesday night and Thursday night face the nation's No. 2 team, St. Bonaventure in New York's Madison Square Garden. Cincinnati currently is in a hot streak, winning 8 in a row for an over-all mark of 13-3.

As the Braves get back into action against Marquette, Chef Walker will be trying to maintain a 26.1-point average over 14 games, seventh best in the nation. The brilliant junior, with a season's total of 365 points, needs only 3 points to become a 1,000-point performer in his Bradley career. As a sophomore last season, Walker scored 632 points in 29 games.

LSU's limited scoring has come principally from guards George Nattin, averaging 16.5 and Ellis Cooper, averaging 14.4. This back court pair, Conklin at center, and forwards Stan Jacobs and Murrey Drummond comprise LSU's starting lineup.

Ready reserves for the Tigers are sophomore forwards John Bailey and Ray Arthur, whose timely baskets helped LSU overcome Loyola Wednesday night.

Both teams lost road games to Florida and Georgia before returning home to upset Kentucky and Tennessee. LSU beat Kentucky 73-59 and Tennessee 72-60. Tulane whipped Tennessee 84-59, and nosed out Kentucky 72-70.

A preliminary game between the Baby Bengals and Tulane's freshmen team gets underway at 5:45 p.m.

HERMITS GIVE UP

Visitors Eat Pair Out Of Cave Home

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jay Kuyper, Cincinnati artist, and his friend, Charles Elmore of Sardinia, Miss., have given up their plan to live in a cave all winter.

"Publicity and too many visitors not only kept us from exploring Melbourne Cave, some 40 miles from Batesville, Ark., but some of them ate almost all of our food," Kuyper told a reporter Friday.

"We just had too many visitors," he continued. "Not only the ordinary curious people came to the cave, but we had visits from folk singers, artists and writers."

"We entered the cave last Aug. 28 and left it on Jan. 6. When we pulled out, our winter's supply of food had dwindled to two cans of beans."

"Now, I am moving to San Miguel, Mexico, to live. It's about 200 miles north of Mexico City and is an artists' colony."

Kuyper said Elmore and he found Melbourne Cave to be about a mile and a quarter deep.

"But there are a lot of passageways, and we looked into rooms about 40 by 30 feet large," he said. "The breaks in the cave, however, were too small to get through."

The artist, who said he did "semi-abstract work," said that by the time Christmas came, the food supply was very low.

"We had a skinny bird," he said, "and a few other things, but it was pretty miserable."

As for his dog, Sam, about all he did was sleep, Kuyper said, adding: "and eat."

Man Is Slain By Mistake As Prowler

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An 83-year-old man shot and killed a neighbor's 32-year-old son Thursday night, mistakenly thinking the victim was the prowler who had just slugged and robbed him.

Harry M. Howell fired a rifle shot that hit Victor Zlotnik as Zlotnik was getting into his car.

"I've known Victor since his dad carried him around in his arms," Howell said upon learning whom he had killed. "I loved Victor as much as his father, I think. I played with him when he was a boy. We were always close friends."

Howell, a retired draftsman, said he looked out his window about 9:30 p.m. and saw a man lurking. Howell opened the front door. The prowler, wearing a handkerchief mask and carrying a gun in each hand, forced his way in and clubbed Howell.

The intruder grabbed two wallets containing about $35 and fled. Howell, blood streaming down his face, picked up a rifle and went outside.

At that moment Zlotnik and his wife Olympia, 25, left the home of his father, Isadore, across the street.

"We'd been visiting my husband's parents," the victim's wife said later. "When we left it was dark and raining. We both ran to our car. My husband put me in the car. He was walking around the back to get in the other side when I thought I heard a shot. He fell down. I sounded the horn until his father and neighbors came."

The bullet hit Zlotnik behind the left ear. He died instantly.

Howell returned to his house and called police. They booked him on suspicion of murder.

Appeal Planned On Lease Case Court Ruling

BATON ROUGE (AP) — D. H. Whittington, Natchitoches, former deputy state auditor, said he has instructed his attorney to appeal a district court ruling dismissing his legal attack on the Dr. George Azar state lease case.

Several days ago, Dist. Judge Coleman Lindsey dismissed the taxpayer's lawsuit by Whittington, onetime aide of former State comptroller William J. Dodd.

The Whittington suit sought to block a lease involving the doctor friend of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and the Casualty and Surety Division of the Louisiana Department of Insurance.

The division seeks space in new quarters being built by Dr. Azar.

Stevenson Rolls Out Red Carpet For Khrushchev

By United Press International
Two of President Kennedy's top aides said Friday they thought the President would be willing to meet Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev soon, either informally at the United Nations or even at the summit if the national interest requires.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk made comments on rumored plans for a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting during a visit to the State Department news room in Washington. Adlai E. Stevenson, the new U. S. ambassador to the U. N., answered questions on the subject at his first U. N. news conference in New York.

The fact that both spokesmen are Cabinet members underlined the probability of a "big two" meeting. Stevenson's statement was tantamount to rolling out the red carpet for Khrushchev to attend the March meeting of the U. N. General Assembly.

"I cannot speak for the president because we have not discussed it, but my guess is that he would be very happy to meet Mr. Khrushchev here," said Stevenson. "I am not suggesting a summit conference but an opportunity to get together would be most welcome in my opinion."

Rusk said the President has not ruled out the possibility of a summit conference with Khrushchev "if the national interest requires." The new Democratic administration wants to use "all appropriate means" to improve diplomatic relations with Russia, he said.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Firemen rescued Thomas E. McCarthy, 40, Friday from a fire which they said started in his apartment when he fell asleep while smoking in bed and reading a book titled "Set This House on Fire."

U.S. Reports Living Costs Edge Higher

WASHINGTON (AP)—Further increases in the price of food and shelter boosted living costs one-tenth of one per cent to another record high in December.

It was the 10th time in 11 months that the government's consumer price index registered an increase. Costs in December averaged 1.6 per cent higher than a year earlier.

As announced by the Labor Department Friday, the index reached 127.5 in December, the highest point ever. This assumes a base of 100 as representing average living costs in the 1947-49 period.

Robert J. Myers, Labor Department price chief, said living costs probably have not changed much in January but on the longer outlook it appears the gradual upward drift will continue.

Food, the main item in the family budget, rose two-tenths of one per cent in December to reach the highest point in 1960. This is just a shade below the record high for food set in July 1958.

Meat prices were generally higher, led by beef, veal and pork products. Poultry and lamb appear to be the best bargains due to abundant supplies. Lamb prices are the lowest since 1956. Dairy products reached a new high. Bread was up too, with a 1960 increase of nearly 5.5 per cent.

Housing costs, including rents, continued up. Fuel prices as well as some foods were higher due to the extreme winter weather.

Year-end clearance sales brought some reduction in clothing items. Higher December living costs mean pay increases for about 150,000 workers whose wage rates were geared to the December index. This will amount to a cent or two an hour more for various groups of aircraft workers and truck and bus drivers.

After-tax earnings of factory workers averaged about the same in December. The figure for the head of a family of four was $20.35 a week. Buying power of factory workers was about 4 per cent lower than a year earlier because living costs grew faster than earnings.

Myers said over-all living costs have risen about 10.5 per cent during the past five years. The steepest 1960 increase was in the medical care category, with a rise of 3.6 per cent.

Laotian Troops Dislodge Rebels From 2 Villages

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (UPI)—Government columns forced Communist-led rebel troops from two more towns Friday and began closing in on 1,000 rebels at a road junction 40 miles south of this royal capital.

The rebels were dislodged from the villages of Kolu Kacham and Tha Thom in a pro-Western government drive to win back the strategic Plain of Jars.

The road junction at Sa'a Phoukhoun leads eastward onto the Plain of Jars where the Soviet Union is using a complex of small airfields to supply the Communist Pathet Lao guerrilla forces in the area.

One government force, pushing 35 miles northward from Vientiane, the administrative capital, captured the town of Muong Kassy, 10 miles to the south, Thursday. It was reported moving northward Friday.

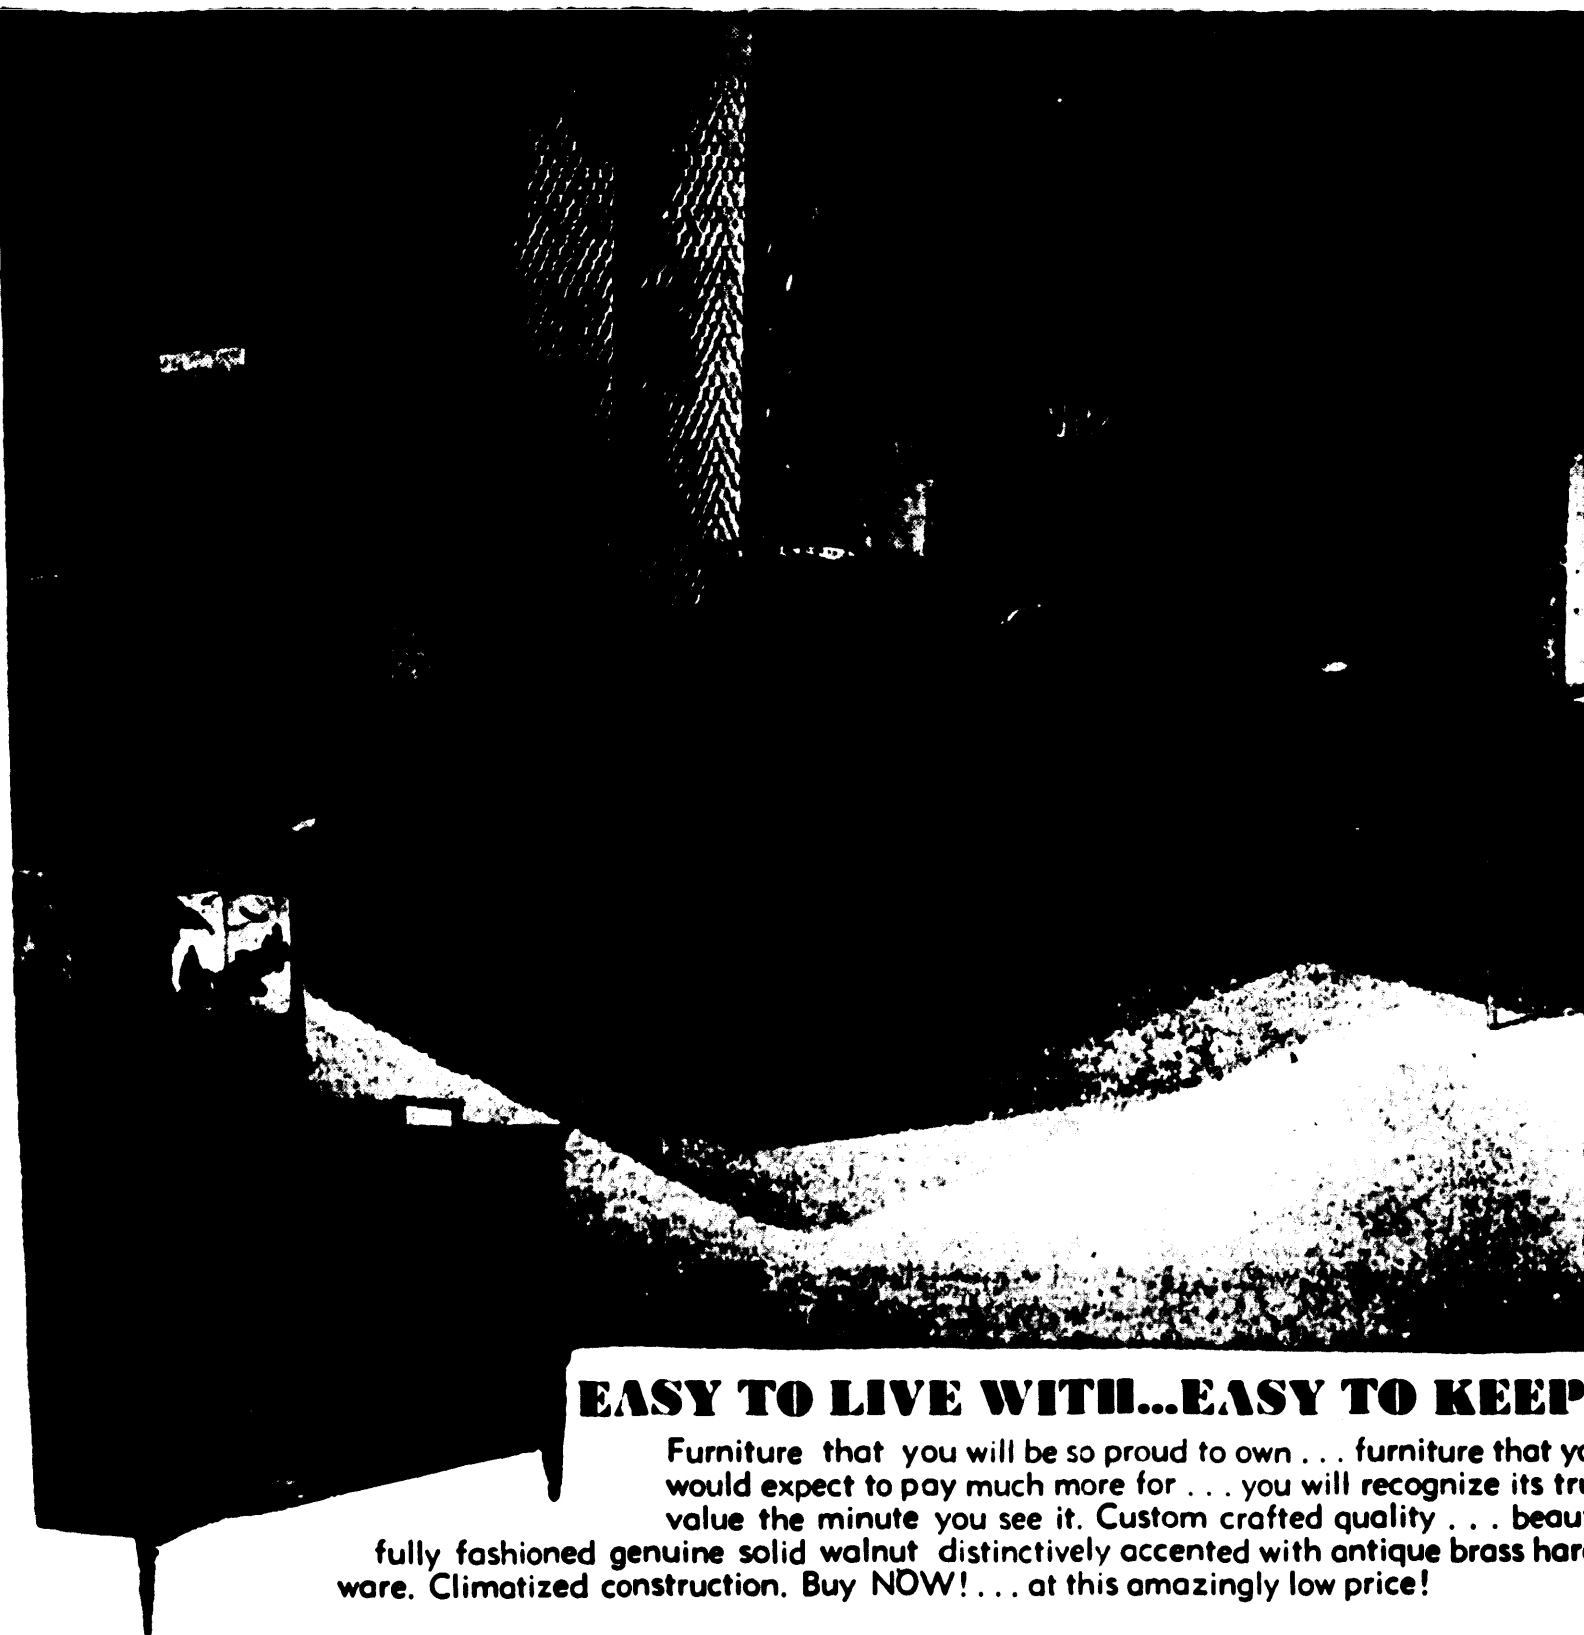

A second government column which moved down from Luang Prabang dislodged a Communist force from Kolu Kacham, 10 miles north of Muong Kassy, and was reported to have started moving south Friday.

The government hoped not only to capture the road junction for an eventual move against the Plain of Jars but also was converging on it slightly toward the east in hope of cutting off the retreat of the rebels and capturing them.

Dairy products reached a new high. Bread was up too, with a 1960 increase of nearly 5.5 per cent.

Housing costs, including rents, continued up. Fuel prices as well as some foods were higher due to the extreme winter weather.

Year-end clearance sales brought some reduction in clothing items.

Higher December living costs mean pay increases for about 150,000 workers whose wage rates were geared to the December index. This will amount to a cent or two an hour more for various groups of aircraft workers and truck and bus drivers.

After-tax earnings of factory workers averaged about the same in December. The figure for the head of a family of four was $30.35 a week. Buying power of factory workers was about 4 per cent lower than a year earlier because living costs grew faster than earnings.

Myers said over-all living costs have risen about 10.5 per cent during the past five years. The steepest 1960 increase was in the medical care category, with a rise of 3.6 per cent.

Laotian Troops Dislodge Rebels From 2 Villages

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (UPI)—Government columns forced Communist-led rebel troops from two more towns Friday and began closing in on 1,000 rebels at a road junction 40 miles south of this royal capital.

The rebels were dislodged from the villages of Kolu Kacham and Tha Thom in a pro-Western government drive to win back the strategic Plain of Jars.

The road junction at Sala Phoukhoun leads eastward onto the Plain of Jars where the Soviet Union is using a complex of small airfields to supply the Communist Pathet Lao guerrilla forces in the area.

One government force, pushing 85 miles northward from Vientiane, the administrative capital, captured the town of Muong Kassy, 10 miles to the south, Thursday. It was reported moving northward Friday.

A second government column which moved down from Luang Prabang dislodged a Communist force from Kolu Kacham, 10 miles north of Muong Kassy, and was reported to have started moving south Friday.

The government hoped not only to capture the road junction for an eventual move against the Plain of Jars but also was converging on it slightly toward the east in hope of cutting off the retreat of the rebels and capturing them.

Prominent Area Wedding Preceded By Rehearsal Dinner Last Evening

Of interest in the area is the wedding tonight of Miss Betty Clyde Ratcliff and James Dudley Hutchinson at the Newellton Union Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Horton Ratcliff of Newellton, and Mr. and Mrs. James Dudley Hutchinson Sr. of Columbus, Mississippi.

Mrs. James C. Wilkerson and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Thomas, aunt and uncle of the bride, were hosts last evening at a rehearsal dinner held in the Newellton American Legion Home, complimentary to Miss Ratcliff and Mr. Hutchinson.

The foyer of the legion home was decorated in a yellow and white theme. On the mantel was an arrangement of white gladioli and yellow tulips, interspersed with stock and ivy.

The bridal table in the dining room was centered with a massive arrangement of yellow tulips, stock, and gladioli. Flanking the centerpiece were silver candelabra holding yellow tapers. Extending down the table were smaller arrangements of flowers linked by trailing ivy. The buffet

Couple Feted Prior To Afternoon Wedding

Miss Lucette Stedman and Kenneth Saterfield, whose marriage will be solemnized this afternoon at 4 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Monroe, were honored with a dinner party last evening following their wedding rehearsal.

Parents of the engaged couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Stedman of Monroe, and Mr. and Mrs. James Dean Saterfield of Dearborn, Michigan.

Hosting the gala event, held in the Flamingo Room of the Hollywood Restaurant, were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Barry of Bastrop. The dinner table was adorned with an arrangement of orchid mums, statice, and eucalyptus in a low pink container, flanked by crystal candelabra holding pink tapers.

Miss Stedman and Mr. Saterfield chose this occasion to present gifts to their attendants.

Present to share the occasion with the honor guests were: Dr. and Mrs. James Horton, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Stedman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saterfield, Miss Evelyn Duke, Richard Drew, Miss Anne Jenkins, Miss Helen Smith, Tommy Chatham, Douglas Stedman, Ronny Brothers, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Barry.

Bride-Elect Honored At Luncheon

Among the festivities honoring Miss Darla McCallister, bride-elect of Uraln Karl Boudreaux, was a miscellaneous shower in Baton Rouge. Parents of the couple, whose marriage will be solemnized this morning at the Church of Assumption in Baton Rouge, are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Vernon McCallister of Monroe, and Mr. and Mrs. Uraln Boudreaux of Franklin.

Hosting the shower, given in the Phi Mu Sorority room on LSU campus, were Miss Noel Beaud and Miss Monte Miller.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cutwork cloth, adorned with gladioli and fern. A large mirror was garlanded with white wedding bells, and a bridal arrangement enhanced a smaller table.

For her party, Miss McCallister was wearing a beige wool frock with a corsage of white carnations interspersed with tiny wedding bells.

Invited to attend the party were Misses Billie Jon Mulhearn, Lynda Laird, Mary Ann Eadom, Barbara Caire, Carol Drinkhaus, Gayle Joseph, Pat Monte, Carolyn Dixon, Penny McBride, Katie Poutz, Monique Guzman, Carolyn Kirby, Alice Hovey, Barbara Walters, Mary James, and Mrs. J. C. Beaud.

Miss McCallister was guest of honor at a luncheon held in Monroe January 14, at the Bayou D'Arde Country Club, with Mrs. O. C. Jones as hostess.

For this occasion, the honoree wore a beige jersey sheath with a pink carnation corsage.

Sharing the occasion with the honoree were Mesdames Mable McCallister, C. E. Thompson, Edward Heard, M. T. Salley, Jo Ann Nix, Helene Cymbal, Isabel Wood, and Miss Bridgett Cymbal.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Girls Pay Big Price For Losing Control

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm not very good at putting things into words, but I hope you will print this letter anyway. It's important. My best friend was buried yesterday. M was very pretty and popular, lots of fun—and only 17 years old. She was going steady with a boy from school. M became pregnant and the boy wouldn't marry her. She was six months along when she died. The doctor said her heart gave out. The boy's mother and my aunt are close friends. She claims her son was probably "one of many" and the girl was a tramp. This isn't true. M was a good girl, but she was foolish.

I've heard many grownups talk about this tragedy and no one blames the boy. They all say the girl's mother didn't raise her right. What about the boy's mother? Did she raise "him" right? Why is it that a girl who gets into trouble is a tramp but the boy responsible isn't even criticized? Please tell me. —HEARTICK

Dear Heartick: One of the oldest laws of nature is that the female is the biggest loser in the game of heavy romance. This is why I hammer away at young girls and implore them to keep their heads.

If a girl loses control of the situation "She" pays the Big Price, not her boy friend. Unhappily, too many boys will go just as far as they can. Of course it isn't fair, but it's a biological fact of life that girls who get mixed up in out-of-control sexual involvements find that it's a man's world.

Dear Ann Landers: I suppose you've had this problem a hundred times, but I don't recall ever seeing it in your column.

Our 4-year-old daughter is a little spoiled. She was the first grandchild and everybody has always fussed over her. Three weeks ago I surprised Nina with a baby brother. I thought she'd be thrilled but instead Nina hates the new baby. She has tried to take his bottle away and cover his head with blankets. I even caught her pinching the baby to make him cry.

I've scolded Nina and told her that she must love her little brother and not hurt him. It does no good. I'm afraid she may harm him seriously because it's impossible to watch her every second. Please tell me what to do. —UPSET

Dear Upset: Your first mistake was "surprising" Nina with a baby brother. She should have been told several months in advance—and in a way that would have made her happy and eager. Nina feels displaced by the new baby and views him as an interloper. Give her special attention and additional affection and enlist her "help" in caring for her little brother.

Keep a sharp eye open and don't leave Nina alone with the baby until she overcomes this feeling of hostility.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Help Needed Urgently": You can't ignore your children for 15 years.

B&PW Club Has Mrs. Miles As Guest Speaker

The Monroe Business and Professional Women's Club selected the subject "After Retirement—What?" for its January program meeting. Mrs. Sara Kennon, first vice-president, introduced Mrs. Gladys Miles, who was in charge of the program. Mrs. Miles pointed out that never before in history had so much thought, research and surveys been focused on an age group as is now being devoted to the oldsters.

Following her talk, Mrs. Miles presented Mrs. W. J. Veazey, who has just returned from Washington, D. C., where she served as a representative to the "White House Conference for the Aging." Mrs. Veazey explained that twenty different committees were set up to study various problems of the aging.

Mrs. T. L. Witter of Alexandria, La., a past state president of the Louisiana Federation, gave the group a delightful and amusing resume of her plans for retirement.

A social hour followed the program and delicious refreshments were served by the career advancement committee, composed of Mrs. Lucille Mathis, Mrs. Athly Patterson, Mrs. Arrah Culver, Mrs. Kathryn Higgins, Mrs. Verrell House, Mrs. Agnes Krogmire. Other members and guests enjoying the affair were: Mrs. Vivian Combs, Mrs. Billie Harrell, Mrs. Malbel Hood, Mrs. Mary Gene Lea, Mrs. Flora Seaman, Mrs. Bessie Skinner, Miss Ella Pearl Sutton, Miss Ruth Whalley, Mrs. Lucile Wilkins, Mrs. Annie Seidenspinner, Mrs. Etta Hale, Mrs. T. L. Witter, Mrs. W. J. Veazey, Mrs. Gladys Miles, Mrs. Sara Kennon.

Highland Park Club To Stage Member Drive

New and retiring board members of Highland Park Country Club held a kick-off breakfast Tuesday morning, January 24 at the club, to promote a membership campaign.

William L. Kelly, president of the club, announced three new types of memberships available during the campaign. They include 50 special industrial memberships available to business firms for employees; 50 associate memberships which require no purchase of stock and also a retired golfing membership designed to meet needs of retired people or those over 65 years of age.

Country Hams Can Be Aged In A Hurry

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Can a fancier of country hams be satisfied with anything less than the genuine, naturally aged product?

A University of Kentucky professor of animal husbandry thinks the answer may be yes. He's conducting experiments now that he believes will prove he's right.

"If natural heat over a summer will age a ham," says Dr. James D. Kemp, "it seems reasonable that controlled artificial heat would bring about the same effects any time of year and at a much faster rate."

DEAR ABBY

Forget Him While You Still Have Your Youth

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For a 23-year-old college graduate I guess I'm pretty stupid, but here's my situation: Last year I met a very attractive man of 30. He told me from the start he'd been keeping company for several years with a woman a little older than himself, and he had no intention of severing their relationship. For all appearances their "relationship" included everything but the marriage license.

I have fallen head over heels in love with him and would give anything to have him for myself. He says he "loves" me but he loves her, too. He sees me on Tuesdays, Fridays and every other Sunday. It kills me to know he is with her when he's not with me. I can't give him up and can't live without him. Is there a solution?

—HOPELESSLY IN LOVE

DEAR HOPELESSLY: You "can" live without him and you'll probably have to, so save yourself further agony and call it quits while you still have your youth. Your Romeo wants to eat his cake and have it, too. Give him the "frosting" he so properly deserves.

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it considered proper etiquette for a person who is entering a room to say, "Good morning" or "Good evening," whichever the case may be? rather than for the person who is already in the room to say it first? This has bothered me for years because I was taught that the person entering the room should greet those already there. Some people don't know this apparently. —IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: Common sense is the best rule. Before the silence becomes awkward, say "hello" and to heck with what's proper.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is the sweetest, most wonderful person in the world—when she isn't drinking. Lately, she is so loaded by noon every day you can't reason with her. The worst part of it is that no one in her family thinks this is a problem. They say, "Ma's feeling good," and will even have one with her any time of the night or day.

I want to help her because she is getting worse. My husband travels and doesn't seem to realize how serious it is, and her other children think I'm a busy-body. Can you help me help her?

—WORRIED

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Older Children Should Help Mother With Chores

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

One of the child's vital needs is to feel close to the mother and sense her interest in him and his affairs. For a busy mother to manage this with several children is difficult but necessary.

Mrs. F.P.T. writes: "Dear Mrs. Eldred: I have three children under five years of age. I do all my own work. I am harassed by the necessity to keep these children busy and occupied so I can get my own work done. Have you any suggestions to offer?"

Perhaps for a short time each morning the two oldest children could help you. If one is pushing the vacuum sweeper, the other flourishing a dustcloth, they will feel companionship with you. They can help with the dishes, put them away, straighten up their own clothes and rooms; they will feel very much needed.

PLAYPEN

The younger child (I have to guess at ages) could be put in a playpen and moved about so he or she may be within sight of the family activities.

Suggest some occupation for the older children. Put up some large sheets of paper for finger paints, or give them clay to model or set them to playing house. If you go in frequently to see how their "art" is progressing, they will feel your interest. If the play becomes boring or degenerates into quarreling, you'll have to think up a new game or skill to keep them occupied.

If you keep in mind that active play should be followed by quiet play, and vice versa, you'll find they'll respond more amiably to it. Four years is the age at which it seems hardest to keep a child "down." He is a bundle of energy as you well know.

EXPEDITIONS

At times it may pay to drop your work and set out on some expedition with the children. Shopping is frustrating to children because they must keep hands off. But parks, zoos, skating rinks, depots, air-fields, even manufacturing plants—are all exciting to children.

Part of your work is to keep the children happy and by so doing to impress them with the fact that you are interested in them and their affairs. This makes for a more cooperative child.

To constantly shoo them away, to tell them you're busy and they must find something to do, only makes for bored or quarreling children. You waste more time correcting such situations than you would if you devoted some time to seeing that they are contentedly occupied.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm not very good at putting things into words, but I hope you will print this letter anyway. It's important. My best friend was buried yesterday. M was very pretty and popular, lots of fun—and only 17 years old. She was going steady with a boy from school. M became pregnant and the boy wouldn't marry her. She was six months along when she died. The doctor said her heart gave out. The boy's mother and my aunt are close friends. She claims her son was probably "one of many" and the girl was a tramp. This isn't true. M was a good girl, but she was foolish.

I've heard many grownups talk about this tragedy and no one blames the boy. They all say the girl's mother didn't raise her right. What about the boy's mother? Did she raise "him" right? Why is it that a girl who gets into trouble is a tramp but the boy responsible isn't even criticized? Please tell me. —HEARTSICK

Dear Heartsick: One of the oldest laws of nature is that the female is the biggest loser in the game of heavy romance. This is why I hammer away at young girls and implore them to keep their heads.

If a girl loses control of the situation "She" pays the Big Price, not her boy friend. Unhappily, too many boys will go just as far as they can. Of course it isn't fair, but it's a biological fact of life that girls who get mixed up in out-of-bounds sexual involvements find that it's a man's world.

Dear Ann Landers: I suppose you've had this problem a hundred times, but I don't recall ever seeing it in your column.

Our 4-year-old daughter is a little spoiled. She was the first grandchild and everybody has always fussed over her. Three weeks ago I surprised Nina with a baby brother. I thought she'd be thrilled but instead Nina hates the new baby. She has tried to take his bottle away and cover his head with blankets. I even caught her pinching the baby to make him cry.

I've scolded Nina and told her that she must love her little brother and not hurt him. It does no good. I'm afraid she may harm him seriously because it's impossible to watch her every second. Please tell me what to do. —UPSET

Dear Upset: Your first mistake was "surprising" Nina with a baby brother. She should have been told several months in advance—and in a way that would have made her happy and eager. Nina feels displaced by the new baby and views him as an interloper. Give her special attention and additional affection and enlist her "help" in caring for her little brother.

Keep a sharp eye open and don't leave Nina alone with the baby until she overcomes this feeling of hostility.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Help Needed Urgently": You can't ignore your children for 15 years.

Industrials Lead Stock Mari Spurt

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leading industrial stocks responding to good earnings reports pumped new life-blood into a strong and active stock market Friday.

Traders found good news in the financial statements of Jersey Standard, Bethlehem Steel and General Motors — key stocks in key industries — and bought into most sections of list with a new-found enthusiasm.

The Dow-Jones industrial average climbed a hefty 4.73 to 648.80. Boosting the D-J were gains of 3 or more in DuPont and Eastman Kodak and 1 or more in Alcoa, American Telephone (1 1/2 to a new high), Bethlehem Steel, General Motors and Procter & Gamble.

Rails firmed 0.50 to 140.54 despite a 2 1/2 point loss in Baltimore & Ohio while American Electric Power, up 2 1/2, carried the utility average ahead 0.75 to 105.14. Volume climbed on the rise to 4,510,000 shares from 4,110,000 on Thursday.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

TO CONDUCT STUDY
NEW YORK (UPI)—The General Electric Co. Friday tapped its former president to conduct a study to determine whether violation of the anti-trust laws by certain GE employees resulted in excess prices charged to its customers.

Charles E. Wilson will report to chairman Ralph J. Cordiner on the customer impact, if any, of discussions on prices between GE officials and competitors.

LIVING COSTS INCREASE
Living costs hit another record high in December for an average 1960 increase of 1.5 per cent, the Labor Department reported. A government expert predicted they would climb about the same amount this year. Higher prices for food and housing lifted consumer prices by one-tenth of one per cent in the month.

FILES STOCK SUIT
Chance Vought Corp. filed suit to block further purchases of its stock by Ling-Temco Electronics. The suit also asked a Dallas federal court to order Ling-Temco to divest itself of all Chance Vought stock it now holds and prohibit the company's officers from selling these shares.

REPORTS DECLINE
Westinghouse Electric Corp. reported 1960 net income declined to $79,057,000 or $2.22 a share from $85,947,000 or $2.43 a share in 1959. President Mark Creas Jr. said industrial sales were about equal to those of 1959 but that consumer product sales declined.

RETAIL SALES DOWN
The nation's retail sales volume this week dropped markedly below the 1950 level as snow and numbing temperatures in the Midwest and East hit merchants hard in these areas, according to Dun & Bradstreet. Total dollar volume in the week ended Jan. 22 was from 6 to 10 per cent under the previous year.

GRAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures traders absorbed moderate surges of profit Friday in all pits as the confidently bid prices higher all along the line with several contracts at or near their highs for the season.

Soybeans posted another broad advance which carried all deliveries to new season peaks on gains running to more than four cents a bushel. At their best they were up more than five cents on four of the five deliveries.

It boosted the rise for the week to about 15 cents on the strictly old crop months without meeting any sustained resistance.

All the wheat contracts except the May traded at season highs and the July, September and December corn deliveries closed within a cent or two of their best for the season.

At the finish all had retreated slightly or moderately from the tops of the day. Soybeans were 1 1/4-4 1/4 cents a bushel higher, March $2.60-60 1/4; wheat 1/4-1 cent higher, March $2.15-15 1/2; corn 1/2-1 1/4 higher, March 65 1/4-16; oats 1/4-1 1/4 higher, March 18 1/4-18 1/2; rye 1/4-1 1/4 higher, March 18 1/4-18 1/2.

Bank Robber Is Sentenced To 45 Years

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Bert L. Scott, 27, former minister pleaded guilty Friday to robbing three banks, and was sentenced to 45 years in prison.

Scott, sometime preacher at a nondescript church here, showed no emotion as he was sentenced by a federal judge. However, his mother and his 8-year-old daughter Linda broke into sobs.

Scott admitted getting more than $17,000 in the holdup of banks at Bella, Tenn., and Byhalia and Coldwater, Miss.

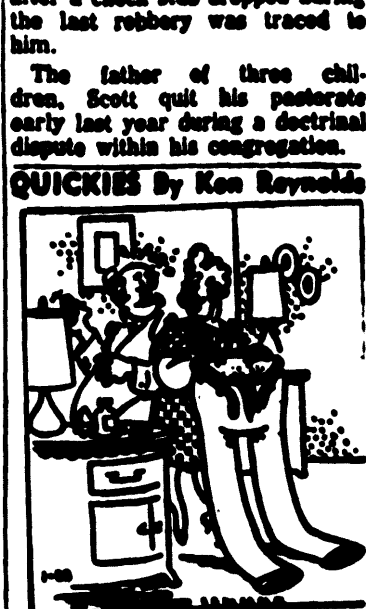

He said he robbed the Bella bank at pistol-point last July 14 "because I wanted to be sent to jail to think things over." Scott was having domestic trouble at the time, he said.

Then he said he decided: "As long as I'm going to be a bank robber, I might as well be a good one." The Byhalia and Coldwater holdups followed Sept. 13 and Dec. 12.

Scott was arrested by the FBI after a check stub dropped during the last robbery was traced to him.

The father of three children, Scott quit his pastorate early last year during a doctrinal dispute within his congregation.

WISHING WELL

WISHING WELL is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

MAP SUMMARY
Occasional snow occurred from the southern Rockies into Oklahoma and northern Texas in connection with a low pressure area centered over New Mexico late Friday. A few showers were scattered from Arizona into southern New Mexico while freezing rain and sleet were reported in Central Texas. Elsewhere, precipitation was in the form of snow flurries from the Great Lakes Region into the Appalachians with a few flurries spilling over into the Middle Atlantic States. Skies were generally fair from the middle and Upper Mississippi Valley through the northern half of the Rockies into the Pacific Northwest as well as in California and New England.

Readings were mostly in the teens or 20's over the Plains from the Dakotas into northern Texas with the 30's noted in the southern part of the Lone Star State. The sub teens prevailed from the middle and upper Mississippi Valley into northern New England while the 30's were reported from the Carolinas into the Central Gulf Region. In contrast, mild temperatures in the 60's and 70's occurred in the Florida Peninsula. The 60's and 70's in the southern half of California while the 40's and 50's were common elsewhere near the West Coast. Over the Rockies, readings were mostly in the 20's or 30's although lower temperatures were noted in higher elevations and some 40's and 50's were observed in the southern section.

Snow is likely to spread into the Tennessee and middle Mississippi Valleys today while a mixture of freezing rain and snow spreads into northern Mississippi. Snow flurries are predicted from the Dakotas through the Great Lakes Region into the Appalachians. Strong northerly winds are expected to spread across tonight and Monday into northern Wyoming tomorrow. Temperatures may not be as cold Saturday as Friday from New England into the Great Lakes Region and middle Mississippi Valley but will be colder from the northern Rockies into the Dakotas.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen
REHABILITATION OF LEPERS

There is a good possibility that leprosy will be conquered in the next two decades. If so, there will be no need to segregate these people in special hospitals or colonies. This assumption is based on the progress made during the last 20 years.

Depsone has changed leprosy from a hopeless disease to a controllable condition. It does not cure but prevents further disfigurement, scarring, and amputation. We are hopeful a chemist will get a lucky break in juggling the molecules in Depsone to produce the perfect remedy.

Most victims of this malady must be treated for long periods. This is a drawback but not serious, considering that the drug is cheap, seldom produces reactions, and the causative micro-organisms never become resistant to the medicine. It is made to order for those in poverty stricken areas.

But the problem of rehabilitation remains. Reconstructive surgery may enable a paralyzed leg to become useful and efficient. This requires the services of a surgeon trained to meet the special needs of the group.

It is estimated that 12 million sufferers need reconstructive operations for the mutilations and paralysis caused by leprosy. In addition, rehabilitation is hampered by a public that fears leprosy. This is unfortunate because, at its worst, the disease is not highly infectious. Furthermore, Depsone renders it noninfectious.

Another complication is that many victims are too disabled to handle any type of skilled job. Their facial and other disfigurements add to the handicap.

LICE AND NITS
Mrs. W. P. writes: My 6 year old daughter brought home lice from school. What is the best way to handle this problem?

REPLY
Consult your physician for the usual remedies and inform the school of the infestation. For more information, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on head lice and nits.

NONWORKING GALL BLADDER
Mrs. W. P. writes: Does an inactive gall bladder ever become active again?

REPLY
Not as a rule. When the wall of the gall bladder becomes infected and thickened, it no longer functions and should be removed, provided it is causing trouble.

EAR LOBE PIERCING
A. K. M. writes: I would like to have my ears pierced for old fashioned earrings. Is it safe to do it myself or must I go to a physician?

REPLY
Go to a physician for a painless and clean job — if you really want it done.

Canessa Dies In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Roberto Edmundo Canessa, 43-year-old El Salvador political leader, died Friday at a New Orleans hospital, two days after fleeing his revolution country.

Cause of death was not immediately determined.

Canessa, former secretary of state and justice minister early in the 1960s, told newsmen he had been jailed and beaten by police under former president of El Salvador, Jose Maria Lemus.

He was interviewed as he lay in an ambulance at Moisant International Airport Wednesday night. He said he had been freed by the currently governing junta Wednesday morning.

Shreveport Man On Lost Plane

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A U. S. plane with two American officers aboard has been missing since Thursday in rugged mountain terrain southwest of Tehran. U. S. and Iranian aircraft are searching for it.

The plane, assigned to the U. S. Military Advisory Group, was en route to Ahwaz in southwest Iran when it disappeared.

A message to the airport tower said: "Thick layer of ice is covering whole plane and desperately flying in heavy snow storm over Bakhtiari Mountains."

The pilot of the missing plane was identified as Capt. Joseph Thomson, and the other man aboard Darrell Bost.

An American source said they were heading for Abadan to pick up Bost's wife.

In Washington, the Army said Thomson was the husband of Mrs. Florence W. Thomson of (3739 Richmond Ave.) Shreveport, La. It said it could find no record of Bost.

Order Of Arrow Conference Set In Monroe Today

The Knights of Columbus Hall on Oliver Road will be the scene today of a planning conference for Area 5-D of the Boy Scouts of America which will be attended by representatives from seven lodges of the Order of the Arrow in Louisiana and Arkansas.

The Order of the Arrow is a society of honor campers selected from among Boy Scout troops and explorer units at large and membership in the corps denotes outstanding service and contributions to the local programs.

The outgrowth of today's planning sessions will be the annual area training meet to be held at Camp Ki-Ro-Li in May which is expected to attract more than 200 participants.

Area 5-D officers and leaders include Ed Wood of Little Rock, chief; Jack Pankey, Monroe, vice - chief and advisor; Jim Spencer, El Dorado, secretary; and Cy Hilliard, Magnolia, Ark., leader.

College Choir Schedules Tour

The Louisiana College A Cappella Choir is making its first annual tour.

The itinerary for this tour includes: Sterling Baptist Church Saturday night, Jan. 28; Central Baptist Church, 3400 Lee Avenue; First Baptist Church of West Monroe, Sunday night, Jan. 29. The choir will be in Winnsboro Monday night.

The choir is under direction of Prof. Carroll D. Carruth, head of the Department of Music, La. College. Nancy Green of Jackson, Tenn., is accompanist.

West Monroe Negro Booked In Theft

West Monroe police reported Friday Arnon Riley, 20, of 803 Haynes St., West Monroe, was booked Thursday night for theft. Authorities said the man was booked in connection with shoplifting from a West Monroe grocery store.

Simple Battery Bookings Reported

Two persons were booked early Friday morning by Monroe police for simple battery and disturbing the peace.

They were identified as Lucy P. Smith, 204 DeSiard St., Monroe, and Mary Margaret Perot, of 508 6th St., Monroe.

Yearbook Romance

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Editor Jim Ansley of Kent State University's 1961 yearbook and Associate Editor Joan Pollak are off to a harmonious start. They've become engaged. The couple met while working on the 1960 yearbook.

Magnetic Shoes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Among the newest exhibits at the Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson Base is a pair of shoes. It is the first pair of magnetic footwear designed to keep a space man from floating about for the lack of gravity.
